Christensen,2013-03-21 Under the guidance of Moeran and Christensen the authors in this volume examine evaluative practices in the creative industries by exploring the processes surrounding the conception design manufacture appraisal and use of creative goods They describe the editorial choices made by different participants in a creative world as they go about conceiving composing or designing performing or making selling and assessing a range of cultural products The study draws upon ethnographically rich case studies from companies as varied as Bang and Olufsen Hugo Boss and Lonely Planet in order to reveal the broad range of factors guiding and inhibiting creative processes Some of these constraints are material and technical others are social or defined by aesthetic norms The authors explore how these various constraints affect creative work and how ultimately they contribute to the development of creativity The Oxford Companion to Music Percy A. Scholes,1943 The String Quartet, 1750-1797 Mara Parker,2017-07-05 The second half of the eighteenth century witnessed a flourishing of the string quartet often represented as a smooth and logical progression from first violin dominated homophony to a more equal conversation between the four voices Yet this progression was neither as smooth nor as linear as previously thought as Mara Parker illustrates in her examination of the string quartet during this period Looking at a wide variety of string quartets by composers such as Pleyel Distler and Filtz in addition to Haydn and Mozart the book proposes a new way of describing the relationships between the four instruments in different works Broadly speaking these relationships follow one of four patterns the lecture the polite conversation the debate and the conversation In focusing on these musical discourses it becomes apparent that each work is the product of its composer's stylistic choices location intended performers and intended audience Instead of evolving in a strict and universal sequence the string quartet in the latter half of the eighteenth century was a complex genre with composers mixing and matching musical discourses as circumstances and their own creative impulses required
