WARNING

On failure or error of this instrument could result in a critical accident of the system, install an external protection circuit to prevent such an accident.

- Do not turn on the power supply until all of the setting is completed. Otherwise electric shock, fire or malfunction may result.
- Use the instrument within the scope of its specifications. Otherwise fire or malfunction may result.
- Do not use this instrument in the places subjected to flammable or explosive gas.
- Do not touch high-voltage circuit such as power supply terminals, etc. Otherwise electric shock may result.
- Never disassemble, repair or modify the instrument. This may cause electric shock, fire or malfunction.

■ Management: Management is the process of planning, organizing, leading, and controlling the organization's resources to achieve its mission and vision.

- 11 When the controller is mounted on panel with 1 to 3 slots in 19" rackmount,
 - 11-1 When the mounting brackets are already installed on the controller, insert the controller into the panel. (Do not remove the brackets.)
- 12 When the controller is mounted on panel with 5 to 8 slots in 19" rackmount,
 - 12-1 Remove the mounting brackets from the controller with a slotted screwdriver.
 - 12-2 Insert the mounting brackets with the holes marked with "1" or "2" on the mounting and slot into the panel.

2. MATERIALS AND METHODS

WARNING

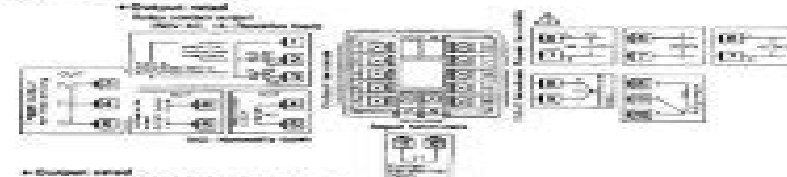

- In order to prevent electric shock or instrument failure, do not turn on the power switch until all of the wiring is completed.
- If failure or error of this instrument could result in a critical accident of the system, install an external protection circuit to prevent such an accident.
- In order to prevent electric shock or instrument failure, protect power line wires connected to the device from high currents by using fuses with rated current ratings.

► Conducting an effective investigation

- (13) For the three-phase supply, use the specified compensation wires.
- (14) For RTD input, use leads with low resistance and having an resistance difference among the 3 leads.
- (15) Connect input signal wiring away from instrument panel, electrical equipment ground and heat lines to avoid noise induction.
- (16) For the RTD input, the sensor wiring is not to be influenced by noise from the electrical equipment ground. If the instrument tray is affected by external noise, an noise filter should be used.
- (17) Connect the distance between busbar (power supply rail) placed. The closer the distance between the rail, the more effective for noise reduction.
- (18) Install the noise filter on the panel which is already grounded and distribute the wiring distance between the noise filter and rail and the instrument power terminals.
- (19) Do not install fuses and switches on the filter output signal since this may reduce filter effect.
- (20) The ground wiring must be made solid and with low impedance circuit.
- (21) About 10 to 20 cm and more as the compensation for the ground output after power on. Use a cross table when the output line is used for an external electric circuit.
- (22) If the measured SLS has power supply, switch ON/ OFF fuses. If there are, install the fuse close to the instrument.
- (23) Recommended fuse rating: Rated voltage: 240 V AC Rated current: 1 A Fuse type: Time-lag fuse
- (24) For the instrument with power supply of 24 V AC, connect the fuse to supply the power from SLS's circuit.
- (25) The instrument is intended to be used under the following recommended conditions: 10 to 30°C
