

Physical Science Module 2 Review Paper

Unit 1 Waves

- How is vibration an observable through continuous, transverse waves (as in the pendulum in this motion of the water).
- Transverse waves (the velocity) is a vibration (gives the frequency) creates wave-lengths longitudinal waves travel through a series of compressions and rarefactions.
- waves can be described by amplitude, wavelength, and speed. Each one describes the wave.
- As a wave travels through a medium, particles are displaced and continue their motion around the wave source.
- Electromagnetic waves differ from other types of waves because they do not need matter through a medium.
- A medium is any substance or space. you would need to know the medium characteristics to know how the wave travels.
- As the frequency increases speed is constant unless speed of the wave you can calculate the wavelength.
- As frequency is increased wavelength decreases the medium is constant time.
- Speed is increasing through a medium, the medium displaces particles of matter in the same direction the wave is traveling. This type of wave is a longitudinal wave.
- Because the medium is displaced by the direction of the wave.
