Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and heart rate reserve (HRR) of sedentary middle-aged men. The subjects were 15 men, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular disease. They were randomly assigned to a 12-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise at 70% of the maximum HR. The control group did not exercise. The HR and HRR were measured at rest and during maximal exercise at the beginning and at the end of the 12-week period. The results showed that the training program significantly increased the HR and HRR at rest and during maximal exercise. The control group showed no significant change in HR and HRR. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary middle-aged men.

Abstract: This research was an exploratory study to determine the relationship between the use of the Internet and the use of the Internet for business purposes. The study was conducted using a survey of 100 business owners. The results of the study indicate that the use of the Internet for business purposes is positively related to the use of the Internet for personal purposes. The study also found that the use of the Internet for business purposes is positively related to the use of the Internet for social purposes. The study was limited by the use of a convenience sample and the use of a self-reported measure of Internet use.

Others go so far as to think that the U.S. is a "superpower" and, as such, has the right to intervene in the affairs of other nations. But the U.S. is not a "superpower" in the sense that it has the right to intervene in the affairs of other nations. The U.S. is a "superpower" in the sense that it has the power to influence the affairs of other nations.
