Constructing Inequality in Multilingual Classrooms Luisa Martín Rojo, 2010-07-30 In her groundbreaking and innovative study the author takes us on a fascinating journey through some of Madrid s multilingual and multicultural schools and reveals the role played by linguistic practices in the construction of inequality through such processes as what she calls de capitalization and ethnicization Through a critical sociolinguistic and discourse analysis of the data collected in an ethnographic study the book shows the exclusion caused by monolingualizing tendencies and ideologies of deficit in education and society The book opens a timely discussion of the management of diversity in multilingual and multicultural classrooms both for countries with a long tradition of migration flows and for those where the phenomenon is relatively new as is the case in Spain This study of linguistic practices in the classroom makes clear the need to rethink some key linguistic concepts such as practice competence discourse and language and to integrate different approaches in qualitative research The volume is essential reading for students and researchers working in sociolinguistics education and related areas as well as for all teachers and social workers who deal with the increasing heterogeneity of our late modern societies in their work

Appleby, Alan Brinkley, James M. McPherson, 2003 Rift-lines Within European Regulatory Framework for Biosimilars when Taking Heterogeneity and Variation During Lifecycle of the Reference Biologic and the Biosimilar Into Account Malik Osmane, 2014 Biopharmaceutical medicinal products biologics represent a huge financial market. Thus upon patent protection expiry of the innovator reference biologic there is interest from industry to gain a portion of this market by launching a similar biologic at a reduced development cost thus boosting potential gains. The EMA responded to this desire and lead the guidance process with industry on the topic of biosimilars. Based on the experience gained with biosimilars in the past the EMA started to introduce a second generation series of guidance documents which take into account the past current and possibly future challenges of biosimilars. Those proposals were evaluated by EMA and partially incorporated into new guidance documents. This work highlights the challenges and risks associated with biosimilar submissions for large and complex bio molecules such antibodies. Results There are unaddressed questions for the regulator with regard to the unsolved dynamic of heterogeneity and variations of the quality profile which have potential implications on safety and efficacy. This is neglected and not taken into account seriously enough by the stakeholders. Solution Further the only in my view progressive way to deal with such foreseeable situations from the biosimilar developer's point of view is to incorporate a design space.

A Guide to Detracking Math Courses Angela Torres, Ho Nguyen, Elizabeth Hull Barnes, Laura Wentworth, 2023-05-03 Create a pathway to equity by detracking mathematics. The tracked mathematics system has been operating in US schools for decades. However research demonstrates negative effects on subgroups of students by keeping them in a single math track thereby denying them access to rigorous coursework needed for college and career readiness. The journey to change this involves confronting some long standing beliefs and structures in education. When supported with the right structures instructional shifts coalition building and educator training and support the detracking of mathematics courses can be a primary pathway to equity. The ultimate goal is to increase more students access to and achievement in higher levels of mathematics learning especially for students who are historically marginalized. Based on the stories and lessons learned from the San Francisco Unified School District educators who have talked the talk and walked the walk this book provides a model for all those involved in taking on detracking efforts from policymakers and school administrators to math coaches and teachers. By sharing stories of real world examples lessons learned and prompts to provoke discussion about your own context the book walks you through Designing and gaining support for a policy of detracked math courses Implementing the policy through practical shifts in scheduling curriculum professional development and coaching Supporting and improving the policy through continuous research monitoring and maintenance. This book offers the big ideas that help you in your own unique journey to advance equity in your school or district's mathematics education and also provides practical information to help students in a detracked system thrive.
