Reforming the Workplace Joseph Rees, 2016-11-11 Government regulatory agencies are too often tangled webs of bureaucracy fraught with internal politics and in conflict with both industries and individuals How to instigate and implement the needed reform is a timely issue that is currently being debated Reforming the Workplace is an account of a successful program that is now a model for nationwide improvements in various regulatory agencies Joseph Rees s focus is the Occupational Safety and Health Administration OSHA which in 1982 announced a major shift in policy from strict government regulation to self regulation by industries with proven safety records In California this resulted in the Cooperative Compliance Program CCP an arrangement among labor unions management and California OSHA that became responsible for overseeing safety regulations at seven large construction sites throughout the state In his detailed study of the CCP Joseph Rees provides important empirical data and assesses the reasons the program succeeded That success is so important he demonstrates because the CCP represents a different approach to reform self regulation that can be extended to and tailored for many troubled agencies Reforming the Workplace is a comprehensive study that will be a valuable resource for scholars and students of law and social policy in general and of federal regulation policies in particular
