Parsimony Nigel Purse assesses the complete canon of Tom Stoppard's works on a thematic basis. He explains that amongst the plenitude of chaotic comedy, wordplay and intellectual ping pong of Stoppard's plays, the principle of parsimony that is Occam's razor lies at the heart of his works. He identifies key patterns in theme, ethics and duality and method, Stoppard's stage debates and his dramatic vehicles as well as in theatrical devices. Quoting extensively from all Stoppard's published works, many of his interviews and also unpublished material, Nigel Purse arrives at a comprehensive and unique appraisal of Stoppard's plays. Talking at Cross-Purposes Angeliki Tzanne, 2000-03-15

Misunderstandings have been examined extensively in studies on cross-cultural miscommunication which associate them with participants differing cultural backgrounds and/or linguistic knowledge. Drawing on a large corpus of misunderstandings from cross and intra-cultural encounters, this book argues that miscommunication does not relate exclusively to participants' background differences or similarities but that its creation and development are tightly interwoven with the dynamic manner in which social encounters unfold. Against a backdrop of Pragmatics, Conversation Analysis and Goffman's theory of frames and roles, the volume discusses a large number of misunderstandings and shows that they are associated with the constant identity and activity shifts as well as with the turn-by-turn construction of interpretative context in interaction. Besides students and researchers of pragmatics, conversation analysis and sociolinguistics, this book will also appeal to all those interested in the process of making misinterpreting and clarifying meaning in social interaction. Towards a Poetics of Postmodern Drama Mufti Mudasir, 2014-06-26

The book is a study of Harold Pinter and Tom Stoppard, arguably the two most eminent British playwrights of the past sixty years or so, from a perspective of what it describes as a poetics of postmodern drama. Arguing for the application of Linda Hutcheon's model of postmodernism to the study of drama, Towards a Poetics of Postmodern Drama shows that postmodern drama should be seen as a self-consciously contradictory and double-coded phenomenon, one which simultaneously inscribes and subverts the conventional categories of dramatic representation. In spite of its indebtedness to Beckett's Absurdist and Brecht's Epic theaters, postmodern drama should not be conflated with either. This is primarily because postmodern drama retains a critical edge towards contemporary reality in a manner which Hutcheon very aptly terms as a complicitous critique. The book demonstrates that both Pinter and Stoppard are pre-eminently postmodern in their treatment of issues such as the human subject, the notion of truth, historical verifiability and linguistic reference. Pinter's preoccupation with non-referential modes of language use, the role of power in the construction of the subject and unreliable memories, is as potent a way of disrupting the representational status of drama as Stoppard's repeated recourse to devices such as parody, theater within theater and the fictional treatment of history. Tom Stoppard in Conversation Tom Stoppard, 1994
