Recovering From The Recovery A Recipe For Survival:

Recovering from the Recovery Anil Bhatt, 2015-09-15 The economic crisis of 2008 and its aftermath altered the lives of millions of people across the globe in a profound way Although we are on a path to recovery the rate of growth has been less than satisfactory The unemployment rate in the United States which was around 10% in the initial year of the crisis has been steady between six and seven percent in recent years The fate of those 50 and older especially those who have been out of work for over six months does not look promising Many people have lost their homes Who is listening to the cries of the jobless and homeless In Recovering from the Recovery A Recipe for Survival CPA Anil Bhatt takes us off the beaten path to look for new ways for economic recovery As a civilized society it is our social and moral obligation to bring sustainable recovery to all the segments of the world population he says Instead of applying old theories and expecting them to work in new circumstances we must nurture fresh ideas appreciate and learn from the natural forces surrounding us and shift our focus outward to preserve our social and moral values When our next recovery arrives it must not merely become some statistic for the record books but must truly be the testimony to our joint efforts in building a sustainable world for everyone

Lesbian Health Phyllis N. Stern, 2013-01-11 The sexual orientation of lesbians is just one factor in their lives yet providers of healthcare often assume everyone is heterosexual and counsel their clients accordingly. This book contains a series of scientific investigations by leading authorities in the field into multiple problems lesbians face when seeking healthcare. Should lesbians disclose their sexual orientation? Can it be kept of the record? Where can lesbians go if they feel unable to trust traditional medicine and what is the history of the scientific and medical community towards lesbians? How are lesbians viewed by college students today? Lesbians are treated in this book as women first; their sexual orientation is just one factor in their lives.

Treatment of Eating Disorders Margo Maine, Beth Hartman McGilley, Douglas Bunnell, 2010-09-08 Eating disorders (EDs) affect at least 11 million people in the United States each year and spread across age, race, ethnicity and socio-economic class. While professional literature on the subject has grown a great deal in the past 30 years, it tends to be exclusively research-based and lacking expert clinical commentary on treatment. This volume focuses on just such commentary with chapters authored by both expert clinicians and researchers. Core issues such as assessment and diagnosis, the correlation between EDs and weight and nutrition and medical/psychiatric management are discussed, as are the underrepresented issues of treatment differences based on gender and culture, the applications of neuroscience, EDNOS, comorbid psychiatric disorders and the impact of psychiatric medications. This volume uniquely bridges the gap between theoretical findings and actual practice, borrowing a bench-to-bedside approach from medical research. Includes real-world clinical findings that will improve the level of care readers can provide, consolidated in one place. Underrepresented issues such as gender, culture, EDNOS and comorbidity are covered in full. Represents outstanding scholarship with each chapter written by an expert in the topic area.

The Recovery of Natural Environments in Architecture C. Alan Short, 2017-01-20 The Recovery of Natural Environments in Architecture challenges the modern practice of sealing up and mechanically cooling public-scaled buildings in whichever climate and environment they are located. This book unravels the extremely complex history of understanding and perception of air, bad air, miasmas, airborne pathogens, beneficial thermal conditions, ideal climates and climate determinism. It uncovers inventive and entirely viable attempts to design large buildings, hospitals, theatres and academic buildings through the 19th and early 20th centuries which use the configuration of the building itself and a shrewd understanding of the natural physics of airflow and fluid dynamics to make good comfortable interior spaces In exhuming these ideas and reinforcing them with contemporary scientific insight the book proposes a recovery of the lost art and science of making naturally conditioned buildings

Corridors to Extinction and the Australian Megafauna Steve Webb, 2013-02-27 Extinctions have always occurred and always will so what is so surprising about the megafauna extinctions They were caused by humans and were the first of many extinctions that eventually led to the extinction of the Moa Steller s Sea Cow the Dodo Great Auk and countless other species great and small all attributed to human agency Therefore the megafauna were humans first great impact on the planet There is now an increasing realization that the blitzkrieg view of these extinctions may have been wrong A growing body of evidence and long term field work is beginning to show that at least Australia s megafauna did not succumb to human agency not because humans probably did not hunt the odd animal but because the an infinitely more logical reason lies in the climatic conditions of the Quaternary Ice Ages and the affect they had on continental geography environment climate and most importantly the biogeography of the megafauna This book presents the evidence of this theory demonstrating the biogeographic approach to Australia s megafauna extinction Written clearly to benefit a diverse level of readers from those with a passing interest to professionals in the field Examines future climate change and its effects on the planet by looking at examples buried in the past Presents new evidence from extensive field research
