The two 1940s publications, Antennae (1942) and Antennae (1944), were also written by Kottler. These titles need no further comment.

1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to recognize that a problem exists. This is often done by comparing current performance with a desired state or goal. If there is a discrepancy, a problem is identified. For example, if a company's sales are declining while its expenses are increasing, this indicates a problem that needs to be addressed.
