Design: A Review Ignacio Javier Navarro, Vicent Penadés-Plà, David Martínez-Muñoz, Rasmus Rempling, Víctor Yepes, Sustainable design of infrastructures has become a major matter of study since the recent establishment of the Agenda 2030. This paper provides a systematic literature review on the use of multi criteria decision making techniques used so far for the sustainable design of bridges. Special attention is put as well on how the reviewed studies assess the sustainable performance of bridge designs along their life cycle from the economic, the environmental and the social perspective. Although SAW and AHP are recurrently used in the sustainable assessment of bridges, the analysis of the most recent articles show that the application of TOPSIS and PROMETHEE techniques are gaining increasing relevance for such purpose. Most of the studies focus on the research of the construction and the maintenance stage of bridges. However, a need for further analysis is identified when it comes to the assessment of the impacts resulting from the End of Life cycle stage of bridges from a sustainable point of view. The use of intuitionistic and neutrosophic logic have been detected as emerging alternatives to the fuzzy approach of decision making problems.

Sexual Offending Patrick Lussier, Eric Beauregard, 2018-04-17 There is growing recognition that sexual offending is a multi determined phenomenon requiring a multi disciplinary perspective. The significant contribution of psychology and psychiatry but also sociology, gender studies and anthropology to the study of sex offending and perpetrators of sex offenses has played a key role in the development of a distinct field of research. In recent years however there has been an increase in criminological research on the topic introducing criminological theory and concepts, scientific evidence and observations and new methodologies to the field. This book brings together international leading scholars to consider key topics on sex offending and where possible compare and contrast criminological viewpoints with those of other disciplines such as psychology and psychiatry. This book considers the following questions: Are the key explanatory factors of sex offenses completely distinct and different from those of non sex crime and delinquency? Are current models explaining adult sex offending also applicable to explain sex crimes on college campuses, female sex offending, sexual exploitation, sexual homicide or child luring over the internet? Are today's youth involved in sex offenses? tomorrow's adult perpetrators of sex crimes? What is the risk of sexual recidivism and are risk assessment tools effective to identify individuals at risk of committing another sex crime in the future? Are current legal measures used to prevent sex crimes effective? What are the known effects of such measures? What are the issues and challenges related to the criminal investigation of sex offenses? This book is essential reading for students and researchers from disciplines such as criminology, psychiatry, psychology, sexology, social work and sociology as well as criminal justice professionals and practitioners such as police investigators, prosecutors, judges, probation, parole officers and treatment providers, counsellors involved with individuals having perpetrated sex offenses.
