Learning Through School Science Investigation Azra Moeed, Dayle Anderson, 2018-08-24 This book explores teaching and learning through science investigation and practical work. It draws upon two representative case studies from New Zealand and examines what students are learning from science investigation. In addition, it identifies and describes ways in which teachers can make changes that benefit student learning when given time to reflect and respond to research literature and findings. The book illustrates how teaching through science investigations in ways that are informed by research can lead to positive learning outcomes for students. As such, it offers valuable insights for practitioners, researchers, and educators with an interest in learning through science investigation.

A Student's Guide to Academic and Professional Writing in Education Katie O. Arosteguy, Alison Bright, Brenda J. Rinard, 2019-06-07 This concise handbook helps educators write for the rhetorical situations they will face as students of education and as preservice and practicing teachers. It provides clear and helpful advice for responding to the varying contexts, audiences, and purposes that arise in four written categories in education: classroom research, credential and stakeholder writing. The book moves from academic to professional writing, and chapters include a discussion of relevant genres, mentor texts with salient features identified, visual aids, and exercises that ask students to apply their understanding of the concepts. Readers learn about the scholarly and qualitative research processes prevalent in the field of education and are encouraged to use writing to facilitate

Going Back to Our Future II Jon Pedersen,Kevin D. Finson,Barbara S. Spector,2015-08-01 Who were the pioneers in science education and what motivated them to do what they did This book is the second volume of an attempt to capture and record some of the answers to these questions either from the pioneers themselves or from those persons who worked most closely with them As with the first volume we have attempted to include as many pioneers as possible but we know that there are still many that are not included in this or the previous volume As we have posed questions rummaged through files and oft neglected books and probed the memories of many individuals we have come to realize our list of true pioneers is ever growing As we consider our list of pioneers we know that there are names on the list that most of us readily recognize We also fully realize that there are names of whom few of us have heard yet who were significant in their roles as mentors or idea development and teaching We continue to be impressed with our science education family tree ever branching out to more individuals and connections The stories in this volume continue to demonstrate how vital this network was in supporting the individual pioneers during their journey in difficult times and continues to be for those of us today in our own enterprise Paperbound Books in Print ,1970 Louisiana Agriculture ,2015 Engineering News-record ,1957
