Political Economy of Media Industries Randy Nichols,Gabriela Martinez,2019-10-28 This book provides a critical political economic examination of the impact of increasingly concentrated global media industries It addresses different media and communication industries from around the globe including film television music journalism telecommunication and information industries The authors use case studies to examine how changing methods of production and distribution are impacting a variety of issues including globalization environmental devastation and the shifting role of the State This collection finds communication at a historical moment in which capitalist control of media and communication is the default status and so because of the increasing levels of concentration globally allows those in control to define the default ideological status In turn these concentrated media forces are deployed under the guise of entertainment but with a mind towards further concentration and control of the media apparatuses many times in convergence with others Innovation Networks Andreas Pyka,Andrea Scharnhorst,2010-05-17 The science of graphs and networks is now an established tool for modeling and analyzing systems with a large number of interacting components The contributions to this anthology address different aspects of the relationship between innovation and networks Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1979

Handbook on Entropy, Complexity and Spatial Dynamics Reggiani, Aura,Schintler, Laurie A.,Czamanski, Danny,Patuelli, Roberto,2021-12-14 This ground breaking Handbook presents a state of the art exploration of entropy complexity and spatial dynamics from fundamental theoretical empirical and methodological perspectives It considers how foundational theories can contribute to new advances including novel modeling and empirical insights at different sectoral spatial and temporal scales

Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1970 The role of the locations of public sector varietal development activities on agricultural productivity: Evidence from northern Nigeria Nasir, Abdullahi Mohammed,Takeshima, Hiroyuki,2017-07-21 Despite the importance of location specific adaptive crop breeding research past reforms of breeding systems in Nigeria have focused more on centralizing the breeding activities into fewer locations This has been based partly on the premise that such research systems can still effectively meet the need for a diverse set of varietal technologies that are suitable for different agroecological conditions through the use of numerous outstations and multilocal trials regardless of the locations of the headquarters or the outstations where breeders are located. However, little empirical evidence exists to support this premise. Using panel data for agricultural households in northern Nigeria as well as spatial data on agroecological factors, this study fills this knowledge gap. Specifically, it empirically shows that agricultural productivity and technical efficiency at farm household level is significantly and positively affected by similarity between the agroecological conditions of the locations of these households and where major crop breeding institutes are headquartered in Nigeria, namely Maiduguri, Kano, Zaria, Badeggi, Ibadan, and Umudike, after controlling for the agroecological conditions and various relevant household characteristics of these households. These findings suggest that where improved varieties are developed or evaluated affects agricultural productivity and technical efficiency in different locations. Overall, agricultural productivity in Nigeria can be significantly increased not simply by increasing support for public sector varietal development but by doing so in a manner that increases the similarity in agroecological conditions between areas where crop breeding is conducted and the areas where farm households produce those crops. Government Reports Announcements & Index, 1992
