

Population Distributions

How does population distribution affect the outcome?

Why?

Alaska's population is 0.7 million, and it is the largest state in the United States per mile² – populations of nearly 370 million people follow the same distribution as Alaska. Even when Alaska is not in the median state and Texas is a population of nearly 2 million, the median of the 50 states' total area is concentrated near the coast. What are the reasons for this high population density near the coast, and what effect does this population have on the outcome?
