Sample Story Map For First Grade:

Reading First Activities, Grade 1 Jodene Lynn Smith, 2004-03-23 Contains activities based on the United States Dept of Education's Reading First program Handbook of Writing Research Charles A. MacArthur, Steve Graham, Jill Fitzgerald, 2008-01-14 Presents a collection of essays discussing the theories and models of writing research Scaffolding Young Writers Linda Dorn, Carla Soffos, 2023-10-10 The goal of teaching writing is to create independent and self-motivated writers. When students write more often, they become better at writing. They acquire habits, skills, and strategies that enable them to learn more about the craft of writing. Yet they require the guidance and support of a more knowledgeable person who understands the writing process, the changes over time in writing development, and specific techniques and procedures for teaching writing. In Scaffolding Young Writers: A Writers Workshop Approach, Linda J. Dorn and Carla Soffos present a clear road map for implementing writers workshop in the primary grades. Adopting an apprenticeship approach, the authors show how explicit teaching, good models, clear demonstrations, established routines, assisted teaching, followed by independent practice and self-regulated learning are all fundamental in establishing a successful writers workshop. There is a detailed chapter on organizing for writers workshop, including materials, components, routines, and procedures. Other chapters provide explicit guidelines for designing productive mini-lessons and student conferences. Scaffolding Young Writers also features an overview of how children become writers, analyses of students' samples according to informal and formal writing assessments, writing checklists, benchmark behaviors, and rubrics based on national standards, examples of teaching interactions during mini-lessons and writing conferences, illustrations of completed forms and checklists with detailed descriptions, and blank reproducible forms in the appendix for classroom use. Instruction is linked with assessment throughout the book so that all teaching interactions are grounded in what children already know and what they need to know as they develop into independent writers. Teaching First Grade Min Hong, 2001-07 A mentor teacher shares insights, strategies, and lessons for teaching reading, writing, and math and laying the foundation for learning success. Writing Assessment and Instruction for Students with Learning Disabilities Nancy Mather, Barbara J. Wendling, Rhia Roberts, 2009-10-12 A hands-on guide for anyone who teaches writing to students with learning disabilities. This valuable resource helps teachers who want to sharpen their skills in analyzing and teaching writing to students with learning disabilities. The classroom-tested, research-proven strategies offered in this book work with all struggling students who have difficulties with writing, even those who have not been classified as learning disabled. The book offers a review of basic skills: spelling, punctuation, and capitalization, and includes instructional strategies to help children who struggle with these basics. The authors provide numerous approaches for enhancing student performance in written expression. They explore the most common reasons students are reluctant to write and offer helpful suggestions for motivating them. Includes a much-needed guide for teaching and assessing writing skills with children with learning disabilities. Contains strategies for working with all students that struggle with writing Offers classroom tested strategies helpful information 100 writing samples with guidelines for analysis and handy progress monitoring charts Includes ideas for motivating reluctant writers Mather is an expert in the field of learning disabilities and is the best selling author of Essentials of Woodcock Johnson III Tests of Achievement Assessment
