Avoidant Restrictive Food Intake Disorder in Childhood and Adolescence Rachel Bryant-Waugh, Claire Higgins, 2020-02-13 Avoidant Restrictive Food Intake Disorder, more commonly known as ARFID, is a relatively newly introduced diagnostic category. This clinical guide sets out to be a trailblazer in the field providing up to date information and comprehensive clinical guidance on ARFID in childhood and adolescence. Chapters in the book are divided into five sections: the first focussing on the importance of attending to the perspectives of those directly affected by ARFID; three subsequent sections cover diagnosis and presentation including chapters on aetiology, epidemiology, assessment, and outcome measures; clinical assessment including psychological, family, nutritional, medical, and sensory components; and management, discussing nutritional, medical, psychological, and wider system approaches. The final section discusses prognosis and outcomes and considers future research directions. This clinically focussed book, with contributions from a multi-disciplinary authorship, is intended to function as an accessible practical guide and reference resource. It includes summaries of available evidence with related recommendations for clinical practice.
