toward cure we have inadvertently devalued the critical need to care for and support patients with advanced disease and their families This report builds on and takes forward an agenda set out by the 1997 IOM report Approaching Death Improving Care at the End of Life which came at a time when leaders in palliative care and related fields had already begun to air issues surrounding care of the dying That report identified significant gaps in knowledge about care at the end of life and the need for serious attention from biomedical social science and health services researchers Most importantly it recognized that the impediments to good care could be identified and potentially remedied The report itself catalyzed further public involvement in specific initiatives mostly pilot and demonstration projects and programs funded by the nonprofit foundation community which are now coming to fruition Health Assessment Jill Fuller, Jennifer Schaller-Ayers, 1990
