Based Education in the Human Services documents a course delivery method coming of age in its desire to create virtual learning environments that incorporate a variety of techniques and strategies. These environments use concepts and tools beyond what packages such as WebCT currently offer, highlighting the power of designing a complete Web based curriculum rather than viewing each course separately. Many of the most successful approaches presented in this invaluable book don't involve sophisticated tools or programming but the creative design of interactive scenarios, emotional content and feedback mechanisms that reinforce the instructor's role as the crucial ingredient for success. Web Based Education in the Human Services examines adult learning theories, teaching practice skills through Web based technology, how to bridge the gap between theory and practice, faculty perceptions of the effectiveness of Web based instruction compared to face to face instruction, the accessibility of Web based education, the significance of emotion in learning, Web based delivery of a graduate professional training program, the creation, delivery and evaluation of a pilot course using Blackboard 6, the development of a Web based undergraduate child welfare course, the use of Web based video clips for counselor skills training, the design, development, pilot and revision of a Web based social work practice course, an online format for agency based field instruction, the design of a Web based graduate program in counseling psychology and much more. Web Based Education in the Human Services is an invaluable resource for social work and human services educators including education, nursing and psychology Web course developers and college and university administrators.
