Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 10 women, 40 to 50 years old, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or other medical problems. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a control group or a training group. The control group continued with their sedentary lifestyle, while the training group participated in a 10-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at rest and during exercise at the beginning and end of the 10-week period. The results showed that the training group had a significant decrease in HR and a significant increase in EE compared to the control group. The findings suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness and energy expenditure of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
 - Turn off the lights at the end of the work day.
 - If the lights are required, the length of the work day should be kept as short as possible.
- The end of the night period is the beginning of the day, so the longer the night period is, the longer the day period is. Therefore, the longer the night period is, the longer the day period is. This is why the night period should be kept as short as possible.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a serious problem with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, suppose the price for the output rises. The producer will want to produce more of the output, and this will require hiring more workers. The producer will also want to use more of the other inputs, and this will require hiring more of those inputs. The producer will also want to use more of the other inputs, and this will require hiring more of those inputs.
