The Economics of Defense Industry Thomas-Durell Young,2023-10-17 This book on the economics of defence industry assesses a series of historical and contemporary case studies that consistently demonstrate the need for governments to recognise and thereafter factor the financial needs of a narrow industrial sector that is capital intensive technologically advanced and that requires a highly skilled labour force Since the end of the cold war Western governments have systematically reduced financial support to their domestic defence industry and have seemingly ignored planning and funding industrial mobilisation In all cases government policy has been to encourage industries to consolidate capacity to become financially viable in a sector that has seen diminished demand The 2022 Russian invasion of Ukraine has caused Western governments to reassess their previous assumptions Efforts to increase industrial capacity have been met with the iron laws of economics whereby businesses need to show return on investments The chapters in this volume posit that efforts to rationalise industrial capacity and innovation to meet short term financial efficiencies inevitably results in limited expensive and long delays in increased production in times of international crisis This book serves as an essential guide for academics researchers and students interested in defence economics industrial economics international relations and industrial policy The chapters in this book were originally published in various issues of Defense Security Analysis

The Economics of the Global Defence Industry Keith Hartley,Jean Belin,2019-11-08 This book makes an original contribution to our knowledge of the world's major defence industries. Experts from a wide range of different countries from the major economies of North America and Western Europe to developing economies and some unique cases such as China, India, Singapore, South Africa and North Korea describe and analyse the structure, conduct and performance of the defence industry in that country. Each chapter opens with statistics on a key nation's defence spending, its spending on defence R D and on procurement over the period 1980 to 2017, allowing for an analysis of industry changes following the end of the Cold War. After the facts of each industry, the authors describe and analyse the structure, conduct and performance of the industry. The analysis of structure includes discussions of entry conditions, domestic monopoly, oligopoly, structures and opportunities for competition. The section on conduct analyses price, non-price competition, including private and state-funded R D and performance, incorporates profitability, imports and exports, together with spin-offs and technical progress. The conclusion explores the future prospects for each nation's defence industry. Do defence industries have a future? What might the future defence firm and industry look like in 50 years' time? This volume is a vital resource and reference for anyone interested in defence economics, industrial economics, international relations, strategic studies and public procurement.

Century Edition of The American Digest ,1897 Policing and Boundaries in a Violent Society Guy Lamb,2022-01-31 This book explores how social and territorial boundaries have influenced the approaches and practices of the South Africa Police Service SAPS By means of a historical analysis of South Africa this book introduces a new concept police frontierism which illuminates the nature of the relationships between the police policing and boundaries and can potentially be used for future case study research Drawing on a wealth of research this book examines how social and territorial boundaries strongly influenced police practices and behaviour in South Africa and how social delineations amplify and distort existing police prejudices against those communities on the other side of the boundary Focusing on cases of high density police operations public order policing and the recent policing of the COVID 19 lockdown this book argues that poor economic conditions combined with an increased militarisation of the SAPS and a decline in public trust in the police will result in boundaries continuing to fundamentally inform police work in South Africa This book will be of interest to scholars and students interested in policing in post colonial societies characterised by high levels of violence as well as police work and police militarization
