Making the History of Computing Relevant Arthur Tatnall, Tilly Blyth, Roger Johnson, 2013-12-06 This book constitutes the refereed post proceedings of the IFIP WG 9.7 International Conference on the History of Computing HC 2013 held in London UK in June 2013. The 29 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions. The papers cover a wide range of topics related to the history of computing and offer a number of different approaches to making this history relevant. These range from discussion of approaches to describing and analyzing the history through storytelling and education to description of various collections, working installations and reconstruction projects. The papers have been organized in the following topical sections: the importance of storytelling in museums; spotlight on some key collections and their future plans; thoughts on expanding the audience for computing history; spotlight on some research projects integrating history with computer science education; putting the history of computing into different contexts; celebrating nostalgia for games and its potential as Trojan horse; the importance and challenges of working installations and reconstruction stories.

Designing and Conducting Business Surveys Ger Snijders, Gustav Haraldsen, Jacqui Jones, Diane Willimack, 2013-08-05 Designing and Conducting Business Surveys provides a coherent overview of the business survey process from start to finish. It uniquely integrates an understanding of how businesses operate, a total survey error approach to data quality that focuses specifically on business surveys and sound project management principles. The book brings together what is currently known about planning, designing and conducting business surveys with producing and disseminating statistics or other research results from the collected data. This knowledge draws upon a variety of disciplines such as survey methodology, organizational sciences, sociology, psychology and statistical methods. The contents of the book formulate a comprehensive guide to scholarly material previously dispersed among books, journal articles and conference papers. This book provides guidelines that will help the reader make educated trade-off decisions that minimize survey errors, costs and response burden while being attentive to survey data quality. Major topics include: Determining the survey content considering user needs, the business context and total survey quality; Planning the survey as a project; Sampling frames, procedures and methods; Questionnaire design and testing for self-administered paper, web and mixed mode surveys; Survey communication design to obtain responses and facilitate the business response process; Conducting and managing the survey using paradata and project management tools; Data processing including capture, editing and imputation and dissemination of statistical outputs. Designing and Conducting Business Surveys is an indispensable resource for anyone involved in designing and/or conducting business or organizational surveys at statistical institutes, central banks, survey organizations, etc. producing statistics or other research results from business surveys at universities, research organizations, etc. or using data produced from business surveys. The book also lays a foundation for new areas of research in business surveys.
