Abstract---Supporting the agricultural sector is a topic that has been discussed for many years in the world and has been the governments' focus more than other economic sectors for many reasons, such as the nature of the agricultural sector, higher risk than other sectors, food security and nutrition and so on. Accordingly, the support of agricultural sector by different countries has varied depending on its importance in different countries of the world. The present study reviews and analyzes important policy changes, assessments, and recommendations in the context of the research in order to evaluate agricultural support policies in the member countries of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), including Turkey, Korea and Japan. In this study, the latest agricultural policies in OECD countries are examined through measuring the parameters of agricultural support policies and using library studies. According to the studies, the OECD uses indicators such as Producer Support Estimate (PSE), Market Price Support (MPS), Producer Nominal Protection Coefficient (Producer NPC), Producer Nominal Assistance Coefficient (NACP), Consumer Support Estimate (CSE), General Services Support Estimate (GSSE), Total Support Estimate (TSE), and other related indicators to measure and classify the agricultural support based on a comprehensive system.

Keywords---OECD, Supportive Policies, Agriculture, Comprehensive System, Consumer, Producer.

Introduction

The agricultural sector is important from various economic, social, and political aspects, and various countries in the world support this sector in many ways

Trujillo shows that the peace agreement in Colombia opened an exceptional window for addressing rural inequality. Yet despite some progress he argues that the agreement's leverage to stir change was severely constrained by opposing actors within and outside the government. García Trujillo later applies the framework developed for the Colombian case to explain key dynamics of other post conflict societies that have dealt with agrarian issues under a transitional context like El Salvador or South Africa. The original theoretical framework and empirically rich analysis make Peace and Rural Development in Colombia an indispensable read for scholars and practitioners who wish to gain an understanding on the political economy of peacemaking, policy change and rural development in Colombia and beyond.

Background Notes on Sustainable, Productive and Resilient Agro-Food Systems: Value chains, human capital, and the 2030 Agenda Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2019-07-18

Agricultural production more than tripled between 1960 and 2015 owing in part to productivity enhancing technologies and a significant expansion in the use of land, water and other natural resources for agricultural purposes. Today more than ever agriculture faces multiple and complex challenges. It has to provide sufficient safe and nutritious food to meet booming demand by a growing and progressively more prosperous population and ensure food security for all. Prepared to support the G20 Presidency of Japan and the G20 Agriculture Deputies, these three background notes provide an overview on the following interlinked issues: i) the policy challenges for strengthening the participation of farmers into modern value chains and promoting value addition, inclusion, sustainability and rural economic growth; ii) the need for a transformation in the skillset of agricultural workers and a renewed focus on human capital development in agriculture; and iii) the contribution of agriculture to the realization of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.
