Outcomes for children		Good	2

Summary of key findings for parents

This provision is good

- Children form close, wonderful relationships with the childminder and her assistants. Strong friendships are evident across all age groups. Older children are very considerate of the younger ones in all activities. Behaviour is excellent.
- The childminder accurately monitors and assesses children's learning. She tracks children's development and identifies where there are any gaps in their learning. The childminder carefully plans what children need to learn next, to help them make good progress.
- Children are offered extensive daily opportunities for exercise and fresh air. They eagerly enjoy outdoor activities that the childminder offers, which involve exploring farms and local areas. Children delight in assisting a volunteer group to clear litter at the local park.
- Partnerships between the childminder and her assistants are strong. They work well together, which enables them to provide an organised learning environment for children to thrive in.
- The childminder has not fully explored ways to build continually on the quality of practice for her and her assistants, to develop an expert knowledge of teaching.
- The childminder does not work as successfully as possible with other settings that children currently attend, to fully support children's care and learning.

Evidence-Informed Policy and Practice in Education Chris Brown, 2014-12-18 Evidence use is now part of the rhetoric of educational research policy and practice Grounded in the contention that using evidence can help educationalists develop better solutions to the key issues facing teaching and learning today Chris Brown seeks to develop a complex rich and socially situated framework to aid researchers practitioners and policy makers to better understand how evidence informed policy and practice can be successfully conceived and enacted In Evidence Informed Policy and Practice in Education Brown journeys through his past empirical work while also employing the ideas of a number of key social theorists and philosophers including Baudrillard Eco Flybjerg Kant and Aristotle in order to give research on evidence use a more rigorous conceptual underpinning Examining and critiquing evidence use both by schools and government and critically engaging with topics as wide ranging as consumption and rationality Brown concludes by setting out an overarching model of evidence informed policy and practice In doing so he also provides a compelling vision for the future role of researchers both within this model and for the promotion of evidence generally

Bullying and Racist Bullying in Schools Dr. Sairah Qureshi, 2013-04-24 Unlike most this book highlights gaps in the literature as well as addressing the core issue what schools parents and educators are missing when it comes to dealing with bullying and racism Henceforth schools face underreporting on a significant level Through academic and practical research the author emphasizes areas for growth in anti bullying education within the school curriculum and presents recommendations which include methods to eradicate all forms of bullying Included are modules and class based activities This book is ideal for school teachers educators and researchers

Education for All Richard Pring, Geoffrey Hayward, Ann Hodgson, Jill Johnson, Ewart Keep, Alis Oancea, Gareth Rees, Ken Spours, Stephanie Wilde, 2012-08-21 There are two key questions at the heart of the ongoing debate about education and training for all young people irrespective of background ability or attainment What counts as an educated 19 year old today Are the models of education we have inherited from the past sufficient to meet the needs of all young people as well as the social and economic needs of the wider community Education for All addresses these questions in the light of evidence collected over five years by the Nuffield Review of 14 19 Education and Training the most rigorous investigation of every aspect of this key educational phase for decades Written by the co directors of the Nuffield Review Education for All provides a critical comprehensive and thoroughly readable overview of 14 19 education and training and makes suggestions for the kind of education and training that should be provided over the coming decade and beyond The authors acknowledge that much has been achieved by the respective governments massive investment in resources closer collaboration between schools colleges training providers voluntary agencies and employers recognition and promotion of a wider range of qualifications They are also optimistic about the good things that are going on in many secondary classrooms enormous amounts of creativity courageous efforts to meet problems a deep concern and caring for many young people otherwise deprived of hope and opportunity But they argue for a radical reshaping of the future in the light of a broader vision of education a greater respect for more practical and active learning a system of assessment which supports rather than impoverishes learning respect for the professional expertise of the teacher a more unified system of qualifications ensuring progression into higher education and employment the creation of strongly collaborative and local learning systems and a more reflective and participative approach to policy Education for All should be read by everyone working in or with an interest in secondary level education in England and Wales and beyond
