

OHIO STATE BOARD OF COSMETOLOGY TANNING CONSENT FORM

Signature on the consent form below is an indication that I have read and understand the risks factors of ultraviolet radiation and overexposure contained on the "Tanning Risks and Important Information" sheet provided. I understand that certain medical conditions and/or medications may cause a photosensitivity of the skin. I further understand that failure to wear protective eyewear may result in severe burns or injury to the eyes. It is also my understanding that a certified tanning operator must perform a skin typing assessment prior to tanning to determine an individualized exposure schedule.

Notice: According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), indoor tanning exposes users to UV-A and UV-B radiation and has been linked with skin cancers including melanoma (the deadliest type of skin cancer), squamous cell, and basal cell carcinoma, and cancers of the eye (ocular melanoma). Indoor tanning is particularly dangerous for younger users; people who begin indoor tanning during adolescence or early adulthood have a higher risk of getting melanoma.

The product is contraindicated for use on persons under the age of 18 years; the product must not be used if skin lesions or open wounds are present; the product should not be used on people who have had skin cancer or a family history of skin cancer; and people repeatedly exposed to UV radiation should be regularly evaluated for skin cancer. A contraindication means that the product is not indicated for use on persons under the age of 18 years of age.
