Public Catalyst Manuel Bailo,2022-03-11 Demonstrates the existence of public space catalysts as well as the need for their presence for an expectant or indifferent place to be activated This work which understands that the city now and always has had and must have public spaces of intensity proposes urban catalysts as agents that are capable of activating a place that was previously indifferent The comparative work of historical and recent cases developed by research and drawings has allowed us to discover that the vivid public spaces of identity and reference have been formed due to the urban effect caused by these agents that we call catalysts Manuel Bailo s work includes a wide range of projects ranging from urban scale to interiorism It has been widely published and presented with awards Co published with University of Virginia School of Architecture Insurgent Public Space Jeffrey Hou,2010-04-21 Winner of the EDRA book prize for 2012 In cities around the world individuals and groups are reclaiming and creating urban sites temporary spaces and informal gathering places These insurgent public spaces challenge conventional views of how urban areas are defined and used and how they can transform the city environment No longer confined to traditional public areas like neighbourhood parks and public plazas these guerrilla spaces express the alternative social and spatial relationships in our changing cities With nearly twenty illustrated case studies this volume shows how instances of insurgent public space occur across the world Examples range from community gardening in Seattle and Los Angeles street dancing in Beijing to the transformation of parking spaces into temporary parks in San Francisco Drawing on the experiences and knowledge of individuals extensively engaged in the actual implementation of these spaces Insurgent Public Space is a unique cross disciplinary approach to the study of public space use and how it is utilized in the contemporary urban world Appealing to professionals and students in both urban studies and more social courses Hou has brought together valuable commentaries on an area of urbanism which has up until now been largely ignored

Pragmatic Sustainability Steven A. Moore, 2016-07-04 This second edition of Pragmatic Sustainability proposes a pragmatic discursive and pluralistic approach to thinking about sustainability Rather than suggesting a single solution to the problem of how to live sustainably this collection discusses broader approaches to social and environmental change Eight continuing authors and seven new ones adjust their dispositions toward rapidly changing and still unsustainable conditions forging agreements and disagreements on five overlapping themes the Grounds for Sustainability the critique of Technological Culture the need to conceive of Sustainability in Place in Cities finally asking how should we reimagine the fraught relationship between Civil Society Industry and Regulation Editor Steven A Moore asks how a set of ideas now more than a century old remains relevant A partial answer can be found in reconstructing the very modern ideas confronted by those who came to call themselves Pragmatists at the beginning of the twentieth century evolution ecology and design Moore argues that we have yet to develop dispositions in theory and practice that critically integrate these ideas into sustainable development In sum this new edition provides a fresh and hopeful look at the wicked problems deliberated by almost anyone engaged in adapting to the always changing conditions of the built world

The Skira Yearbook of World Architecture Luca Molinari, 2008 Furniture, Structure, Infrastructure Nigel

Bertram, 2017-03-02 Observation and analysis are types of invention. They make things apparent which perhaps were invisible. By noticing, drawing and naming something, we bring it into being. On the other hand, building and making can be thought of as analytical observations pointing out what had not been so clear before and revealing the potential for other actions yet to occur. This book is a collection of urban research and architectural projects by award-winning architects Nigel Bertram NMBW Architecture Studio using observation as a design tool and design as an observational method. Through this process, a position on the making of architecture and on the role of architecture within the wider urban environment is established, embracing the full messy reality of the present, finding delight in the everyday and developing sensitivity to a range of found environments. By taking pre-existing conditions seriously, each project architectural or analytical, large or small, becomes understood as the strategic renovation of a continuing state. This method of working operates by thinking simultaneously at different scales, from furniture to structure and infrastructure, searching for combinations of what might normally be separated into different categories, moving between the many small and ad hoc actions of individuals to wider systems of collective organisation. Thinking about the effects of small moves on the larger urban field and vice versa, the role of unplanned or uncontrolled events in relation to the inward focus of design, thinking about the combinatory effect of what is newly made with what is already there, for example, enables architecture and the city to be understood in relative terms in terms of relationships. Between people, groups of people, things and parts of things, actions and groups of actions, urban architecture is the social arrangement of activity with the physical arrangement of large and small parts of its environment. But what people do also changes the place in which they do it. Considering different scales and types of relationships between individuals and groups, insiders and outsiders, expected and unexpected actions can be a way of crossing categories and establishing new relations. Breaking down components of a given situation or brief before re-grouping can be used to flatten and redistribute hierarchies embedded within. Similarly, finding ways of carefully observing things just as they are in the present helps to see around the presuppositions of familiarity without worrying about cause or effect. These aims, techniques and thoughts are presented through the discipline of the architectural project where precise strategies must in the end be found to define an exact physical arrangement and materiality, usually at minimum cost. This collection of works researches the manner in which such precision can also generate openness and indeterminacy, allowing and provoking the engagement of others.

Arte-polis 3 International Conference, 2010 Design Research in Architecture Murray Fraser, 2021-07-28

What is the role of design research in the types of insight and knowledge that architects create? That is the central question raised by this book. It acts as the introductory overview for Ashgate's major new series Design Research in Architecture, which has been created in order to establish a firm basis for this emerging field of investigation within architecture. While there have been numerous architects, scholars since the Renaissance who have relied upon the interplay of drawings, models, textual analysis, intellectual ideas and cultural insights to scrutinise the discipline, nonetheless until recently there has been a reluctance within architectural culture to acknowledge and accept the role of design research as part of the discourse. However in many countries around the world one of the key changes in architecture and architectural education over the last decade has been the acceptance of design as a legitimate research area in its own right and this new series provides a forum where the best proponents of architectural design research can publish their work. This volume provides a broad overview on design research that supports and amplifies the different volumes coming out in the book series. It brings together leading architects and academics to discuss the more general issues involved in design research. At the end there is an Indicative Bibliography which alludes to a long history of architectural books which can be seen as being in the spirit of design research.
