Ancient Sculpture and Twentieth-Century American Womanhood Hallie Franks, 2025-01-09 This book examines the reception of Graeco Roman sculptures of Venus and their role in the construction of the body aesthetics of the fit American woman in the decades around the turn of the 20th century In this historical moment 19th century anthropometric methods the anti corset dress reform movement and early fitness culture were united in their goal of identifying and producing healthy procreative female bodies These discourses presented ancient statues of Venus most frequently the Venus de Milo as the supreme visual model of a superior fit feminine physique An America of such Venuses would herald the future prosperity of the American race by reviving the robust health and moral righteousness of the ancient Greeks Venuses had long been symbols of beauty but the new situation of Venus statues as an aesthetic and moral destination for women set up a slippage between ideal sculpture and living bodies what did it mean for a woman to embody or to try to embody the perfect health and beauty of an ancient statue How were women expected to translate this model into flesh What were the political stakes to which this vision of a nation of American Venuses was bound Who was believed to conform to this ideal and who was excluded from it In taking on these questions Franks engages with physical culture and dress reform media modern artwork that adapts Graeco Roman traditions anthropological texts art histories of ancient Greece film advertising and medical reporting on women s health

Literary Trauma Deborah M. Horvitz, 2000-11-02 This book examines portrayals of political and psychological trauma particularly sexual trauma in the work of seven American women writers Concentrating on novels by Charlotte Perkins Gilman Pauline Hopkins Gayl Jones

Leslie Marmon Silko Dorothy Allison Joyce Carol Oates and Margaret Atwood Horvitz investigates whether memories of violent and oppressive trauma can be preserved even transformed into art without reproducing that violence The book encompasses a wide range of personal and political traumas including domestic abuse incest rape imprisonment and slavery and argues that an analysis of sadomasochistic violence is our best protection against cyclical intergenerational violence a particularly timely and important subject as we think about how to stop hate crimes and other forms of political and psychic oppression Blood Work Shawn Salvant,2015-01-12 The invocation of blood as both an image and a concept has long been critical in the formation of American racism In Blood Work Shawn Salvant mines works from the American literary canon to explore the multitude of associations that race and blood held in the consciousness of late nineteenth and early twentieth century Americans Drawing upon race and metaphor theory Salvant provides readings of four classic novels featuring themes of racial identity Mark Twain's Pudd'nhead Wilson 1894 Pauline Hopkins's Of One Blood 1902 Frances Harper's Iola Leroy 1892 and William Faulkner's Light in August 1932 His expansive analysis of blood imagery uncovers far more than the merely biological connotations that dominate many studies of blood rhetoric the racial discourses of blood in these novels encompass the anthropological and the legal the violent and the religious Penetrating and insightful Blood Work illuminates the broad ranging power of the blood metaphor to script distinctly American plots real and literary of racial identity

Ghostly Communion John J. Kucich,2015-03-24 In this exceptional book Kucich reveals through his readings of literary and historical accounts that spiritualism helped shape the terms by which Native American European and African cultures interacted in America from the earliest days of contact through the present Beginning his study with a provocative juxtaposition of the Pueblo Indian Revolt and the Salem Witchcraft trials of the seventeenth century Kucich examines how both events forged contact zones spaces of intense cultural conflict and negotiation mediated by spiritualism Kucich goes on to chronicle how a diverse group of writers used spiritualism to reshape a range of such contact zones These include Rochester New York where Harriet Jacobs adapted the spirit rappings of the Fox Sisters and the abolitionist writings of Frederick Douglass as she crafted her own story of escape from slavery mid century periodicals from the Atlantic Monthly to the Cherokee Advocate to the Anglo African Magazine post bellum representations of the afterlife by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Mark Twain and the Native Americans who developed the Ghost Dance turn of the century local color fiction by writers like Sarah Orne Jewett Charles Chesnutt and Maria Cristina Mena and the New England reformist circles traced in Henry James's The Bostonians and Pauline Hopkins's Of One Blood Kucich's conclusion looks briefly at New Age spiritualism then considers the implications of a cross cultural scholarship that draws on a variety of critical methodologies from border and ethnic studies to feminism to post colonialism and the public sphere The implications of this study which brings well known canonical writers and lesser known writers into conversation with one another are broadly relevant to the resurgent interest in religious studies and American cultural studies in general Telling Narratives Leslie W. Lewis,2024-03-18 Telling

Narratives analyzes key texts from nineteenth and early twentieth century African American literature to demonstrate how secrets and their many tellings have become slavery's legacy By focusing on the ways secrets are told in texts by Jessie Fauset Charles W Chesnutt Pauline Hopkins Frederick Douglass and others Leslie W Lewis suggests an alternative model to the feminist dichotomy of breaking silence in response to sexual violence This fascinating study also suggests that masculine bias problematically ignores female experience in order to equate slavery with social death In calling attention to the sexual behavior of slave masters in African American literature Lewis highlights its importance to slavery's legacy and offers a new understanding of the origins of self consciousness within African American experience

Women's Experience of Modernity, 1875-1945 Ann L. Ardis, Leslie W. Lewis, 2003-05-22 A collection of essays on women's history and literary production at the turn of the twentieth century that centers the feminine phenomena Analyzing such cultural practices as selling and shopping political and social activism urban field work and rural labor radical discourses on feminine sexuality and literary and artistic experimentation this volume contributes to the rich vein of current feminist scholarship on the gender of modernism and challenges the assumption that modernism rose naturally or inevitably to the forefront of the cultural landscape at the turn of the twentieth century During this period women's experience was a rallying cry for feminists a unifying cause that allowed women to work together to effect social change and make claims for women's rights However it also proved to be a source of great divisiveness among women for claims about its universality quickly unraveled to reveal the classism racism and Eurocentrism of various feminist activities and organizations The essays in this volume examine both literary and non literary writings of Jane Addams Djuna Barnes Toru Dutt Radclyffe Hall H D Pauline Hopkins Emma Dunham Kelley Amy Levy Alice Meynell Bram Stoker Ida B Wells Rebecca West and others Instead of focusing exclusively or even centrally on modernism and literature these essays address a broad array of textual materials from political pamphlets to gynecology textbooks as they investigate women's responses to the rise of commodity capitalism middle class women's entrance into the labor force the welfare state's invasion of the working class home and the intensified eroticization of racial and class differences mother a missing parent and a lost African history and heritage In Hopkins s oeuvre the image of the mother of African heritage a source of both identity and persecution becomes a source of power and possibility Bergman shows how historical events such as Bleeding Kansas the execution of John Brown and the Middle Passage gave rise to a sense of motherlessness and how Hopkins s work engages with that of other contemporaneous race activists This illuminating study opens new terrain not only in Hopkins scholarship but also in the complex interchanges between literary African American psychoanalytic feminist and postcolonial studies
