Dear Sir/Madam

I am writing to express my concerns regarding the devastating impact deforestation is having. Rainforests provide 20% of the oxygen we breathe; they are home to many thousands of plants and animals. Sadly, these majestic, mind-blowing rainforests are under threat and they must be saved.

Firstly, rainforests are being cut down to allow companies to build huge palm oil plantations. As a result of this, defenceless Orang Utans lose their homes and habitat, resulting in them being cruelly captured unable to breath. These vulnerable animals are in your hands! Why should this happen to them?

Secondly, rainforests store enormous amounts of carbon dioxide. Consequently, when the forest is cut down the carbon dioxide is released into the atmosphere. This causes global warming (which affects us all). Is it really worth harming our planet? What will happen when the North and South Pole melt and flood the Earth?

Finally, rainforests are home to many indigenous tribes who have lived there for many thousands of years. However, when the forest is cut down they lose their homes. Clearly you can see that you are destroying their home! In addition, we lose the knowledge these people have of the forest and its fruit plants and animals. Can we afford to lose this knowledge?

In conclusion, the rainforest is too valuable (to be destroyed) to the animals, plants and people who live there. It is too valuable to the people, plants and animals in the rest of the world, who need the rainforest to protect their own habitats. Please help save the rainforest before it is too late!

Thank you for reading my letter, I hope you take my concerns into consideration and act upon them.

Yours Faithfully

Sarah Flint
