

Pet Architecture

And how to Use it

TOSHIHARU TSUKAMOTO

When we walk on the streets of Tokyo we find amazingly small buildings between streets, along railroad tracks, and in the spaces between tracks and streets. Most of these buildings are cheaply built, and therefore not spectacular in design, and they do not use the latest best of technology.

However, they attract us. I may be because their presence produces a relaxed atmosphere, and makes us feel relaxed. Their shapes and forms that do not conform to styles and perceptions are interesting to our eyes. They illustrate unique ideas with elements of fun without putting in unreasonable conditions such as small price, size and width.

Their livable presence reminds me of something I thought when one day I realized that they are the pets. Our society does not consist only of human beings. Various animals come into our lives as 'pets', and they are given spaces to live. It may be for our own convenience, but playing with pets is a lot of fun. It is said that communicating with pets reduces many people psychologically. It is because they feel a totally different existence from us who stand on two feet, wear clothes and speak words. This play is quite good for our mental health since pets are not subjects of direct comparison to us, human beings. In other words, if decent buildings standing in decent spaces are to be considered 'human beings', small buildings standing with all their might in odd spaces would seem to be the pets in urban spaces, due to the nature of distance from human beings and the sense of presence necessary. If we think this way, we are able to enjoy many different kinds of buildings. As a result, we have decided to call small buildings, 'Pet Architecture', those that are smaller than 'urban houses' (a term used to make fun of small houses in Tokyo and bigger than doghouses). We show the existence of pets in the jungle of buildings, as there are pets in the worlds of human beings.

By giving this title, we aimed to establish one new category in urban culture by going from a certain name and not by negatively considering them as openings and fragments. I have tentatively talked about this concept to different people and, surprisingly found that many of them tell me about their 'My Pet Architecture' existing in their daily lives.

The SAGE Handbook of Architectural Theory C. Greig Crysler, Stephen Cairns, Hilde Heynen, 2012-01-10 The SAGE Handbook of Architectural Theory documents and builds upon some of the most innovative developments in architectural theory over the last two decades Bringing into dialogue a range of geographically institutionally and historically competing positions the book examines and explores parallel debates in related fields The book is divided into eight sections Power Difference Embodiment Aesthetics Pleasure Excess Nation Spectacle Modernity History Memory Tradition Design Practice Production Technology Science Virtuality Nature Landscape Sustainability City Metropolis Territory Creating openings for future lines of inquiry and establishing the basis for new directions for education research and practice the book organizes itself around specific case studies to provide a critical interpretive and speculative enquiry into the relevant debates in architectural theory A methodical authoritative and comprehensive addition to the literature the Handbook is suitable for academics researchers and practitioners in architecture urban geography cultural studies sociology and geography

Furniture, Structure, Infrastructure Nigel Bertram, 2017-03-02 Observation and analysis are types of invention They make things apparent which perhaps were invisible By noticing drawing and naming something we bring it into being On the other hand building and making can be thought of as analytical observations pointing out what had not been so clear before and revealing the potential for other actions yet to occur This book is a collection of urban research and architectural projects by award winning architects Nigel Bertram NMBW Architecture Studio using observation as a design tool and design as an observational method Through this process a position on the making of architecture and on the role of architecture within the wider urban environment is established embracing the full messy reality of the present finding delight in the everyday and developing sensitivity to a range of found environments By taking pre existing conditions seriously each project architectural or analytical large or small becomes understood as the strategic renovation of a continuing state This method of working operates by thinking simultaneously at different scales from furniture to structure and infrastructure searching for combinations of what might normally be separated into different categories moving between the many small and ad hoc actions of individuals to wider systems of collective organisation Thinking about the effects of small moves on the larger urban field and vice versa the role of unplanned or uncontrolled events in relation to the inward focus of design thinking about the combinatory effect of what is newly made with what is already there for example enables architecture and the city to be understood in relative terms in terms of relationships Between people groups of people things and parts of things actions and groups of actions urban architecture is the social arrangement of activity with the physical arrangement of large and small parts of its environment But what people do also changes the place in which they do it Considering different scales and types of relationships between individuals and groups insiders and outsiders expected and unexpected actions can be a way of crossing categories and establishing new relations Breaking down components of a given situation or brief before re grouping can be used to flatten and redistribute hierarchies embedded within Similarly finding ways of carefully observing things just as they are in the present helps to see around the presuppositions of familiarity without worrying about cause or effect These aims techniques and thoughts are presented through the discipline of the architectural project where precise strategies must in the end be found to define an exact physical arrangement and materiality usually at minimum cost This collection of works researches the manner in which such precision can also generate openness and indeterminacy allowing and provoking the engagement of others

Decoding Theoryspeak Enn Ots, 2010-09-20 Existentialism Urbanism Aporia Deontic Tabula Rasa Hyperspace Heterotopia Metareality Structuralism What does it all mean The unique language used in architectural theory both in speech and writing can appear daunting and confusing particularly to new architectural students Decoding Theoryspeak provides an accessible guide to the specialized language of contemporary design for the next generation of thinkers architects and design leaders It includes definitions of over 200 terms clear cross references illustrations throughout It is an essential pocket sized resource for students and practitioners alike

The Routledge Companion to Architecture and Social Engagement Farhan Karim, 2018-05-11 Socially engaged architecture is a broad and emerging architectural genre that promises to redefine architecture from a market driven profession to a mix of social business altruism and activism that intends to eradicate poverty resolve social exclusion and construct an egalitarian global society The Routledge Companion to Architecture and Social Engagement offers a critical enquiry of socially engaged architecture s current context characterized by socio economic inequity climate change war increasing global poverty microfinance the evolving notion of professionalism the changing conception of public and finally the growing academic interest in re-visioning the social role of architecture. Organized around case studies from the United States, Brazil, Venezuela, the United Kingdom, South Africa, Rwanda, Burkina Faso, Nigeria, Nepal, Pakistan, Iran, Thailand, Germany, Australia, Taiwan, and Japan, the book documents the most important recent developments in the field. By examining diverse working methods and philosophies of socially engaged architecture, the handbook shows how socially engaged architecture is entangled in the global politics of poverty, reconstruction of the public sphere, changing role of the state, charity, and neoliberal urbanism. The book presents debates around the issue of whether architecture actually empowers the participants and alleviates socio-economic exclusion or if it instead indirectly sustains an exploitative capitalism. Bringing together a range of theories and case studies, this companion offers a platform to facilitate future lines of inquiry in education, research, and practice.

Seeing and Making in Architecture Taiji Miyasaka, 2013-08-22. You always aim to achieve that moment of insight that leads to ingenuity and novelty in your design, but sometimes it remains elusive. This book presents a variety of techniques for mapping and making hands-on design-build projects and relates this work to real architecture. It helps you to learn new ways of seeing and making that will enhance your creative design process and enable you to experience moments that lead to ingenuity in design. Each of the book's two parts, Seeing and Making, is organized according to technique, which ranges from quantitative analysis and abstraction to pattern and scale, to provide you with a framework for mapping and hands-on exercises. Interviews with architects Yoshiharu Tsukamoto, Atelier Bow Wow, and Jesse Reiser and Nanako Umemoto. Reiser and Umemoto give you perspective on using these exercises in practice.

The Fractal Dimension of Architecture Michael J. Ostwald, Josephine Vaughan, 2016-09-01. Fractal analysis is a method for measuring, analysing, and comparing the formal or geometric properties of complex objects. In this book, it is used to investigate eighty-five buildings that have been designed by some of the twentieth century's most respected and celebrated architects. Including designs by Le Corbusier, Eileen Gray, Frank Lloyd Wright, Robert Venturi, Frank Gehry, Peter Eisenman, Richard Meier, and Kazuyo Sejima, amongst others, this book uses mathematics to analyse arguments and theories about some of the world's most famous designs. Starting with 625 reconstructed architectural plans and elevations and including more than 200 specially prepared views of famous buildings, this book presents the results of the largest mathematical study ever undertaken into architectural design and the largest single application of fractal analysis presented in any field. The data derived from this study is used to test three overarching hypotheses about social, stylistic, and personal trends in design, along with five celebrated arguments about twentieth-century architecture. Through this process, the book offers a unique mathematical insight into the history and theory of design.

Architecture Against the Post-Political Nadir Lahijji, 2014-05-23. Written by a team of renowned contributors and carefully edited to address the themes laid out by the editors in their introduction, the book includes theoretical issues concerning the questions of aesthetics and politics and addresses city and urban strategies within the general critique of the post-political. By focusing on specific case studies from

Warsaw Barcelona Dubai Tokyo and many more the book consolidates the contributions of a diverse group of academics architects and critics from Europe the Middle East and America This collection fills the gap in the existing literature on the relation between politics and aesthetics and its implications for the theoretical discourse of architecture today In summary this book provides a response to the predominant de politicization in academic discourse and is an attempt to re claim the abandoned critical project in architecture
