Poverty increased inequality and social exclusion are back on the political agenda not only as a consequence of the Great Recession of 2008 but also because of a seemingly structural trend towards increased inequality in advanced industrial societies that has persisted since the 1970s Policies in labor markets social policy and political representation are strongly linked in the creation widening and deepening of insider outsider divides a process known as dualization While it is certainly not the only driver of increasing inequality its development across multiple domains makes dualization one of the most important current trends affecting developed societies The comparative perspective of this book provides insights into why Nordic countries witness lower levels of insider outsider divides whereas in continental liberal and southern welfare states they are more likely to constitute a core characteristic of the political economy Most importantly the comparisons presented in this book point to the crucial importance of politics and political choice in driving and shaping the social outcomes of deindustrialization While increased structural labor market divides can be found across all countries governments have a strong responsibility in shaping the distributive consequences of these labor market changes Insider outsider divides are ultimately the result of political choice A landmark publication this volume is geared for faculty and graduate students of economics political science social policy and sociology as well as policymakers concerned with increasing inequality in a period of deep economic and social crisis
