

A medieval-style illustration depicting the characters Tristan and Isolde in a small wooden boat on a choppy sea. The boat is positioned in the lower half of the frame. Two figures are inside: a man in a blue tunic and a woman in a pink tunic and green cloak. They are both wearing black hennin hats. The woman is leaning back, resting her head on the man's shoulder. The sea is rendered with stylized blue and white waves. In the background, a large stone castle with multiple towers sits on a hill to the left. To the right, a city with various buildings is visible on a distant shore. The sky is a pale blue. The overall style is reminiscent of a children's book illustration or a medieval manuscript illumination.

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
