

OVERCOMING OBSTACLES

Even though we cannot see angels, the Lord can. Once, angels came before the Lord, and Satan came with them. Satan thought that he was smarter than God. He wanted everyone in the world to be bad. He could not believe that people loved God and wanted to be good.

The Lord told him that a man named Job was a very good man. God said that Job always wanted to do right and that he loved God very much.

Satan knew about Job. Job lived in the land of Uz. He loved God very much, and God had blessed him in his life. Job had seven sons and three daughters. He had great herds of livestock; 7000 sheep; 3000 camels; and 500 yokes of oxen; 500 donkeys; and lots more. He was the greatest man in the land of the east.

Job's children loved each other and loved him. They grew up and had their own houses, but they still liked to visit Job. Sometimes they would go to each other's houses and visit with each other.

"Job only loves you because you have given him all of these good things. If he did not have riches and family and his health then he would curse you in your face and hate you," Satan sneered to God.

"All right, Satan, I will show you that Job is a good man and that he will always try to be good," answered the Lord. "I will allow you to test Job." Then Satan caused terrible things to happen to Job. A messenger came to Job and said that enemies had attacked Job's flocks and stole his oxen and donkeys and killed his servants. Job was just thinking about how terrible this was when another messenger came and said that lightning had struck and burned up all his sheep. Then another messenger came and said that more enemies had raided the camp where all of Job's camels were. All of the camels were gone, and the servants who had been watching after them were dead.

Job was very sad. All of his riches were gone! At least, he had his family! Job knew that all of his children were visiting his oldest son's house. They were all together, and they were safe. Then, a terrible thing happened. Another messenger came rushing up to Job's house with more bad news.

"Your sons and daughters were feasting at their oldest brother's house when a very strong wind came up and knocked over the four corners of the house. The whole house fell down and crushed everyone in it. All of your children are dead!" Job was so upset that he tore his robe, shaved his head, and fell down on the ground and began to pray. But he did not hate God like Satan said he would. He prayed to God and worshipped Him.

When Satan came before the Lord again, he told the Lord that Job would curse God if he did not have his health. Satan wanted to test Job again. The Lord knew that Job would pass the test, so He allowed Satan to make Job sick.

Big sores appeared all over Job's body. Even the soles of his feet and the top of his head had sores on them. The sores hurt, and they itched. Job used to use bits of
