

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a mountain landscape. In the foreground, a river flows over dark, jagged rocks. In the middle ground, a small wooden cabin with a red roof is nestled among evergreen trees. The cabin's interior lights are on, and a bright light source, possibly the sun or moon, is visible through the trees behind it, creating a hazy, atmospheric effect. The overall color palette is dominated by blues, greys, and the warm reds and yellows of the cabin and sky.

It s true a mind is a terrible thing to waste Yet that s what we do when we spend our weekend and neurons reliving a workplace squabble spend a family visit chewing over childhood issues or spend hours beating ourselves up when someone brings one of our own long held but never worked on ideas to fruition This kind of obsessing gets us like a hamster on a wheel nowhere But as noted creativity expert Eric Maisel asserts obsessing productively leads to fulfillment rather than frustration A productive obsession whether an idea for a novel a business or a vaccine is chosen deliberately and pursued with determination In this provocative practical guide Maisel coaches you to use the tendency to obsess to your creative advantage fulfilling both your promise and your promises to yourself      Mapping British Women Writers' Urban

Travel and Translation in the Early Modern Period Carmine Di Biase, 2006 The relationship between travel and translation might seem obvious at first but to study it in earnest is to discover that it is at once intriguing and elusive Of course travelers translate in order to make sense of their new surroundings sometimes they must translate in order to put food on the table The relationship between these two human compulsions however goes much deeper than this What gets translated it seems is not merely the written or the spoken word but the very identity of the traveler These seventeen essays which treat not only such well known figures as Martin Luther Erasmus Shakespeare and Milton but also such lesser known figures as Konrad Grunenberg Leo Africanus and Garcilaso de la Vega constitute the first survey of how this relationship manifests itself in the early modern period
