

Chapter 6: Memory

Module 6.1 Remembering

Memory Processes: Human Memory as an Information Processing System

--Our memory can be conceptualized as an information processing system split into 3 categories:

1. Encoding: Converting information into a form usable in memory

- Relies on different sensory modalities, ie: auditory or visual.

- Sometimes people rely on meaning of incoming information, called semantics

- ie: might remember key terms better if you try to understand what it means rather than memorizing verbatim

2. Storage: Retaining information in memory

- How long something is kept depends on system being used

3. Retrieval: Bringing to mind information in memory

- Where you're accessing conscious information
- Some memories easier to recall than others, but might be dependent on retrieval cues, which are cues associated with original learning that may facilitate retrieval of these memories

Sensory Memory

- Known as briefest storage system that hold memories of sensory impressions for short period of time ie: sights and sounds

- Memory here lasts from fraction of second to 3-4 seconds

- Considered to be first memory system where info passes through our system into memory storage system

Iconic Memory: where mental representations of an image is held for a fraction of a second

Idetic Memory: AKA photographic memory, where people can look at something quickly and recall this information
