naval forces in the theatre Milne's decisions and actions could and did have a major impact on the state of affairs between his government and that of the US While noting in one private exchange with the British ambassador to Washington Richard Lord Lyons that he had been enjoined to abstain from any act likely to involve Great Britain in hostilities with the United States Milne added ominously yet I am also instructed to guard our Commerce from all illegal interference and it is plain from his correspondence that both he and the British government were prepared to use force in that undertaking Thus between apparently high handed behaviour by the US Navy and Milne's and the Palmerston government's resolve not to be pushed beyond a certain point the ingredients for a major confrontation between the two countries existed Yet most of Milne's efforts were directed toward preventing such a confrontation from occurring In this endeavour he was joined by Lyons and by the British government No vital British interest was at stake in the conflict raging between North and South and thus the nation was unlikely to become directly involved in it unless provoked by rash US actions Yet there was no shortage of such provocations the seizure of British merchant vessels bound from one neutral port to another detaining such ships without first conducting a search of their cargo for evidence of contraband of war the de facto blockade of British colonial ports apparent violations of British territorial waters the seizure of British merchantmen off the neutral port of Matamoros Mexico and the use of neutral ports as bases of operations by US warships among them In responding to these and other sources of dispute between the US and Britain Milne proved adept at pouring oil on troubled waters so much so that in a late 1863 letter to Foreign Secretary Lord Russell Lyons lamented his impending departure from the station I am very much grieved at his leaving No change of admirals could be for the better This collection centres upon Milne's private correspondence especially that between him and Lyons First Lord of the Admiralty the Duke of Somerset and First Naval Lord Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Grey It also includes private letters to and from many of Milne's other professional correspondents and important official correspondence with the Admiralty
