Ploger, Ken Yasukawa, 2003. Designed to provide a variety of exercises that engage students actively in all phases of scientific investigation from formulating research questions through interpreting and presenting final results. Suited to undergraduates each chapter presents an animal behavior exercise tested by academic members of the Animal Behavior Society. Four types of exercises are presented: 1 traditional exercises in which students follow a pre-determined protocol to test particular hypotheses; 2 traditional exercises that can easily be adapted to inquiry-based approaches; 3 combined pedagogy exercises that involve both traditional and inquiry approaches; and 4 inquiry exercises in which students brainstorm to generate their own hypotheses then design their own experiments to test them. Exercises cover descriptive ethology, causation and development of behavior and behavioral ecology. Both field and laboratory exercises are included on arthropods, fish, amphibians, reptiles, birds and mammals. South Dakota Bird Notes, 1961 Books and Notes Los Angeles County Public Library, 1926 Interactions of Life, Natural Resources and Career Awareness George C. Videojournalism Kenneth Kobre, 2013-01-17. Videojournalism is a new field that has grown out of traditional print photojournalism, slideshows that combine sound and pictures, public radio documentary filmmaking and the best of television news features. This amalgam of traditions has emerged to serve the Internet's voracious appetite for video stories. Videojournalism is written for the new generation of backpack journalists. The solo videojournalist must find a riveting story, gain access to charismatic characters who can tell their own tales, shoot candid clips, expertly interview the players, record clear, clean sound, write a script with pizzazz and finally edit the material into a piece worthy of five minutes of a viewer's attention. Videojournalism addresses all of these challenges and more, never losing sight of the main point: telling a great story. This book, based on extensive interviews with professionals in the field, is for anyone learning how to master the art and craft of telling real short-form stories with words, sound and pictures for the Web or television. The opening chapters cover the foundations of multimedia storytelling and the book progresses to the techniques required to shoot professional video and record high-quality sound and market the resulting product. Videojournalism also has its own website: go to just one URL and find all the stories mentioned in the book. You also will find various how-to videos on the site. To keep up with the latest
