Science Education in East Asia Yew-Jin Lee,Jason Tan,2018-09-26 This edited volume is a state of the art comparison of primary science education across six East Asian regions namely the People s Republic of China Republic of Korea Republic of China Hong Kong SAR Japan and Singapore While news of educational policies classroom teaching assessment and other educational innovations here often surface in the international media this book brings together for the first time relevant information regarding educational systems and strategies in primary science in East Asia Above all it is a readable yet comprehensive survey readers would have an accurate sense of what has been accomplished what has not worked so well and what remains to be done Invited experts in comparative education research and or science education also provide commentary by discussing common themes across the six regions These types of critical synoptic reviews add much value by enabling readers to understand broad commonalities and help synthesize what must surely be a bewildering amount of very interesting albeit confusing body of facts issues and policies Education in East Asia holds many lessons both positive and negative to offer to the rest of the world to which this volume is a timely contribution to the literature Educational Research R. Burke Johnson,Larry B. Christensen,2024-09-17 Educational Research Quantitative Qualitative and Mixed Approaches offers an accessible introduction to research methods Providing an in depth understanding of research methodologies in education this book illustrates how to read and critically evaluate published research how to write a proposal construct research tools and conduct empirical research using qualitative quantitative and mixed methods research approaches Official Gazette Philippines,2013 Understanding Employer Engagement in Education Anthony

Mann,Julian Stanley,Louise Archer,2014-05-30 This collection focuses on employer engagement in education how it is delivered and the differentiated impact it has on young people in their progression through schooling and higher education into the labour market. The focus is not narrowly on vocational or technical education or work related learning but on how employer engagement eg work experience internships careers education workplace visits mentoring enterprise education etc influences the experiences and outcomes of the broad range of young people across mainstream academic learning programmes. The essays explore the different ways in which education can support or constrain social mobility and in particular how employer engagement in education can have significant impact upon social mobility both positive and negative. Leading international contributors examine issues surrounding employer engagement and social mobility conceptualisations of employer engagement trends in social mobility employer engagement and social class access and management of work experience social capital and aspiration access to employment. The book makes employer engagement an innovative focus in relation to the well established fields of social mobility and school to work transition. By examining what difference employer engagement makes the essays raise questions about conventional models and show how research drawing on different fields and disciplines can be brought together to provide a more coherent and convincing account. Building on new theorisations and combining existing and new data the collection offers a systematic exploration of the influence of socio economic status on school to work transitions and addresses how educational policy can shape more efficient labour market outcomes. In doing so it draws on and speaks to existing literature which has considered such questions from the perspectives of gender ethnicity and social disadvantage.

Multimodal Narratives in Research and Teaching Practices Lopes, J. Bernardino, Viegas, Maria Clara, Pinto, José Alexandre, 2019-02-01 While already validated by the scientific community multimodal narratives have the potential for a broader application especially for improved teaching practices from a professional or a theoretical point of view. Applying multimodal narratives within professional development courses creates a focus on the teaching practices rather than the content itself. Multimodal Narratives in Research and Teaching Practices provides educator and researcher perspectives on the use of multimodal narratives as a tool to reflect and improve teaching practices. Covering such topics as professional development online learning and teacher education this publication is designed for educators academicians administrators and researchers.
