Financial Inclusion and Digital Transformation Regulatory Practices in Selected SADC Countries Howard Chitimira, Tapiwa Victor Warikandwa, 2023-03-28 This book investigates the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion and provides a comparative analysis of the regulation promotion and enforcement of the relevant laws in the SADC in particular South Africa Namibia Botswana and Zimbabwe as well as the challenges of financial inclusion In turn it evaluates financial inclusion in the context of specific challenges faced by unbanked and underbanked customers who are easy targets for cyber criminals because they tend to have lower levels of digital literacy The book presents novel discussions that identify the challenges and flaws associated with the enforcement of financial inclusion laws and related measures intended to promote financial inclusion in the SADC region. This is primarily done in order to reveal the current strengths and weaknesses of financial inclusion laws in relation to certain aspects of the companies securities and financial markets in the region. For example, there is no common financial inclusion instrument law that is effectively and uniformly applied throughout the SADC. This has impeded the enforcement authorities efforts to effectively combat financial exclusion across the region. The book is likely the most comprehensive study to date on the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion in the SADC region and fills a major gap in SADC and African legal jurisprudence. As such, it offers a valuable asset for policymakers, attorneys, bankers, securities share holders and other market participants who deal with financial inclusion as well as undergraduate and graduate students interested in the topic.

Towards Democratic Development States in Southern Africa Godfrey Kanyenze, Herbert Jauch, 2016-12-14. The dawn of the twenty first century heralded an apparent change of fortunes for most sub Saharan African economies with annual growth averaging over 5% for fifteen years. However, this was not accompanied by structural transformation; poverty, food insecurity, unemployment and inequality persist. Structural transformation has not been and indeed cannot be delivered by market forces and neo liberal economic policies; it requires a state committed to development and to achieving it in a democratic way. To what extent do the countries of Southern Africa exhibit the characteristics of such a developmental state? What steps, if any, do they need to take in order to become one? The book answers the questions with respect to South Africa, Botswana, Namibia, Zimbabwe, Angola and Malawi. Godfrey Kanyenze and his colleagues have assembled a distinguished team of writers to take the temperature of the regional political economy and chart a path for its future development.

Africa's Pulse, No. 19, April 2019 Cesar Calderon, Gerard Kambou, Vijdan Korman, Megumi Kubota, Catalina Cantu Canales, 2019-04-08. Economic growth in Sub Saharan Africa is estimated to have decelerated from 2.5 percent in 2017 to 2.3 percent in 2018, below the rate of growth of population for a fourth consecutive year. Regional growth in 2018 is below the pace projected in 2018. October issue of Africa's Pulse: 0.4 percentage points lower. This slowdown was more pronounced in the first half of 2018 and it reflected weaker exports among the region's large oil exporters, Nigeria and Angola, due to dwindling oil production amid higher but volatile international prices for crude petroleum. A deeper contraction in Sudanese economic activity and a broad based growth slowdown among non resource intensive countries also played a role. Sub Saharan African countries with fragile context have made considerable efforts to find a way out of fragility. Regional and sub regional economic organizations are promoting economic cooperation and addressing security and peace challenges that go beyond national borders. The special topic of this issue of Africa's Pulse argues that the digital economy can unlock new pathways for inclusive growth, innovation, job creation, service delivery and poverty reduction in Africa. The continent has made great strides in mobile connectivity, however, it still lags the rest of the world in access to broadband. Only 27 percent of the population in the continent have access to internet.

few citizens have digital IDs businesses are slowly adopting digital technologies and only few governments are investing strategically in developing digital infrastructure services skills and entrepreneurship World Development Report 2016 World Bank Group,2016-01-14 Digital technologies are spreading rapidly but digital dividends the broader benefits of faster growth more jobs and better services are not If more than 40 percent of adults in East Africa pay their utility bills using a mobile phone why can't others around the world do the same If 8 million entrepreneurs in China one third of them women can use an e-commerce platform to export goods to 120 countries why can't entrepreneurs elsewhere achieve the same global reach And if India can provide unique digital identification to 1 billion people in five years and thereby reduce corruption by billions of dollars why can't other countries replicate its success Indeed what's holding back countries from realizing the profound and transformational effects that digital technologies are supposed to deliver Two main reasons First nearly 60 percent of the world's population are still offline and can't participate in the digital economy in any meaningful way Second and more important the benefits of digital technologies can be offset by growing risks Startups can disrupt incumbents but not when vested interests and regulatory uncertainty obstruct competition and the entry of new firms Employment opportunities may be greater but not when the labor market is polarized The internet can be a platform for universal empowerment but not when it becomes a tool for state control and elite capture The World Development Report 2016 shows that while the digital revolution has forged ahead its analog complements the regulations that promote entry and competition the skills that enable workers to access and then leverage the new economy and the institutions that are accountable to citizens have not kept pace And when these analog complements to digital investments are absent the development impact can be disappointing What then should countries do They should formulate digital development strategies that are much broader than current information and communication technology ICT strategies They should create a policy and institutional environment for technology that fosters the greatest benefits In short they need to build a strong analog foundation to deliver digital dividends to everyone everywhere New Media and the Mediatization of Religion Gabriel Faiman,William O. Lesitaokana,2018-10-01 New media including digital and social media play a central role in producing and reproducing socio-cultural and religious practices Its presence has not only resulted in changes to the ways in which religious beliefs are practiced but has also altered the way religious meanings are expressed How has new media technology informed and influenced religious engagement and participation In what ways has new media technology enabled religious groups to practice and preach their religious beliefs to a broader audience To what extent has the emergence of social media and social networking sites shaped religious discourses and religious practices This volume offers a unique Africa-centred perspective in response to these questions While presenting new scholarly developments in the fields of media religion and culture in Africa this book also provides empirical and theoretical insights into the intersection between new media and religion The Political Life of an Epidemic Simukai Chigudu,2020-01-30 Reveals how the crisis of Zimbabwe's cholera outbreak of 2008 9 had profound implications for political institutions and citizenship

Williams, Alasdair Gordon-Gibson, 2024-09-26 Fully revised and updated in its third edition this timely book brings together the study of conflict and war and the problems surrounding the economic development of developing societies that are most prone to experiencing problems in moving on after war The book does so by reflecting on the issues surrounding war as it unfolds and after it has in principle ended within the context of the history present day problems and future prospects The book aims to highlight the possibilities successes and failures of past and present policies that bring development to countries and peoples that want to be more involved in deciding their own futures after conflict and war and often find themselves subject to what can be seen as arbitrary and even alien ways of thinking and acting by institutions in which they theoretically have membership and agency but often do not in practice The case studies have been fully updated to reflect changes and developments since the second edition of this text and there are questions at the end of each chapter to promote reflection This new edition presents a deeper dive into the history of conflict and the emergence of new theories and policy guidance about present and future options in the fields of conflict and development Accessible and engaging this textbook is a pivotal resource for a nexus of subjects related to the often separated fields of conflict and development studies as well as practitioners in this area
