QUESTION

Egor, who had a history of depression and schizophrenia, and his wife Irina were eating in a restaurant. Egor was taking medication for his condition and was therefore not drinking alcohol. He was trying to reassure Irina who had received threatening letters from her ex-husband Alexey. All of a sudden, Alexey, who was very drunk, burst into the restaurant and stormed over to Egor and Irina's table shouting: 'You stole my wife! You must die!' Egor was alarmed. He picked up the heavy water jug from the table and threw it at Alexey. It hit Alexey on the head and he fell to the floor, unconscious. The sight of Alexey lying on the floor enraged Egor as he remembered the letters Alexey had sent to Irina. He was also worried that Alexey might wake up and kill him. He repeatedly kicked Alexey who died of a fractured skull before an ambulance could be called.

self defence in both domestic criminal and international law It focuses on the requirement of imminence which deals with the question of when individuals or States may legitimately resort to defensive force against a serious danger or harm In both national and international law the imminence requirement if strictly applied renders any defensive measure taken in anticipation of a would be attack illegal Recently however attempts have been made to relax the temporal requirement of the self defence doctrine imminence with a view to allowing individuals or States to employ deadly force to arrest an anticipated threat when they believe that using pre emptive lethal force would be the only way to thwart an expected harm In domestic criminal law it has been argued that it is necessary to relax the rule of imminence in domestic violence cases where women employ lethal force against their abusive partners when there is no imminent threat to justify defensive force At the international level while there has long been controversy as to the justifiability of pre emptive force in non confrontational settings following the September 11 attacks the Bush Administration s war on terror policy radically shifted the focus from the notion of anticipation to that of prevention making it clear that if necessary it would invoke unilateral force against emerging threats before they are fully formed The book surveys the roots role rationale and objectives of self defence and questions whether the requirement of imminence should be removed from the traditional contours of the self defence doctrine in national and international law Treatise on International Criminal Law Kai Ambos,2021 This is the first volume of an authoritative three volume treatise on international criminal law The text provides comprehensive treatment of issues relevant to the foundations general part of international criminal law and general principles of international criminal justice law should be constructed according to the perpetrator's perception of the victims ostensible racial otherness. The perpetrator's imagination as manifested through his behaviour defines the victims racial group membership. It will be of interest to students and practitioners of international criminal law as well as those studying genocide, apartheid and race in domestic and international law. Congressional Record United States.
