A wide range of terms has been used to refer to the key players involved in the teaching and learning of the English language and to the enterprise of English language teaching as a whole. At various times and in different contexts the following labels have been used in countries where English is the dominant language to describe programs learners or teachers of English: English as a second language, ESL, English as an additional language, EAL, limited English proficient, LEP, and English language learners, ELL. In contexts where English is not the dominant language the following terms have been used: English as a foreign language, EFL, English as an international language, EIL, and English as a lingua franca, ELF. The Complete Idiot's Guide to
