Saying Goodbye to Rue James Allen,2014-09-28 Poets are madly attracted to drama both wonderful and tragic When a crisis as massive as the person you love dying of cancer emerges it is the worst kind of individual tragedy for the poet but a boon for poetic activity What bigger drama can life present In this book James C Allen shares his tragedy in the most intimate terms From finding out his lover of 33 years has terminal cancer to recovering from his passing this book chronicles the broken heart of humanity itself through the eyes of a very perceptive poet What a splendid opportunity We get someone to vocalize what we all have felt and understood intuitively but have found difficult to put into words We find ourselves identifying living through his words cheering for him as he curses fate and challenges eternity We cry with him as he comprehends loss then reassembles his world In the end he accepts the dictums of the universe as we all must do and brings us back to the reality of mundane life richer for the experience and grateful for the transitory nature of our purely observational involvement He has created a wonderful tribute of love we are fortunate to share

A Sun for the Dying Jean-Claude Izzo,2013-04-16 The final novel from the author of the Marseilles trilogy A bleak affecting tale about a man on the skids despairing of love s ability to heal Publishers Weekly Rico has been banished to society s margins he has neither a roof over his head nor a steady income on which to depend When a friend and fellow vagabond dies of exposure after a night spent in the Paris metro Rico decides to flee the northern cold for his beloved south for Marseilles and the warmth of the Mediterranean Diverted and hindered along the way he suffers the vagaries of human cruelty and pettiness and is warmed by occasional fleeting instances of human tenderness His return to the Mediterranean is simultaneously a homecoming and a pilgrimage in search of lost love innocence and humanity From the celebrated author of the Marseilles trilogy this is both an affecting on the road novel and a tender exploration of love s power to both heal and destroy Our last true romantic Jean Claude Izzo transmits warmth to his readers as if granting them a mouthful of pure love A Sun for the Dying is beautiful like a black sun tragic and desperate Le Point France Like a chanson by Jacques Brel or Charles Aznavour Izzo s harsh honed prose perfectly embodies that Gallic genius for balancing bleak unsentimentality with intense frank emotion making this a likely hit not just with fans of noir including Izzo s own Marseilles trilogy but also with devotees of Charles Bukowski Hubert Selby Jr and other great modern tragedians Booklist starred review
