Rules Cynthia Lord Chapter Summary:

Readers Writing Elizabeth Hale, 2014 When faced with a blank page in their readers notebooks students often fall back on what is familiar summarizing Despite our best efforts to model through comprehension strategies what good readers do many students struggle to transfer this knowledge and make it their own when writing independently about books In Readers Writing Elizabeth Hale offers ninety one practical lessons that show teachers how students of all ability levels can use readers notebooks to think critically on their own one step at a time Each of the lessons uses a fiction or nonfiction book to address a comprehension strategy questioning connecting analyzing synthesizing evaluating visualizing or monitoring by showing students one specific way they can write about their thinking Each lesson also provides an example of how to model the strategy All of the lessons follow a similar format with five components Name It Why Do It Model It Try It and Share It and include time for students to actively process what they learn by talking about and trying out the strategy in their readers notebooks Elizabeth also provides suggestions for supporting student independence managing independent writing time scaffolding comprehension of nonfiction texts as well as assessing and conferencing with readers notebooks Helpful appendices include a table that illustrates how each lesson aligns with the Common Core State Standards and a list of additional titles that can be used to demonstrate each of the ninety one lessons Readers Writing gives teachers a way to engage all children with readers notebooks to learn the language of thinking one strategy at a time and to become lifelong readers who can think and write critically on their own

Multiple Representations in Biological Education David F. Treagust, Chi-Yan Tsui, 2013-02-01 This new publication in the Models and Modeling in Science Education series synthesizes a wealth of international research on using multiple representations in biology education and aims for a coherent framework in using them to improve higher order learning Addressing a major gap in the literature the volume proposes a theoretical model for advancing biology educators notions of how multiple external representations MERs such as analogies metaphors and visualizations can best be harnessed for improving teaching and learning in biology at all pedagogical levels The content tackles the conceptual and linguistic difficulties of learning biology at each level macro micro sub micro and symbolic illustrating how MERs can be used in teaching across these levels and in various combinations as well as in differing contexts and topic areas The strategies outlined will help students reasoning and problem solving skills enhance their ability to construct mental models and internal representations and ultimately will assist in increasing public understanding of biology related issues a key goal in today s world of pressing concerns over societal problems about food environment energy and health The book concludes by highlighting important aspects of research in biological education in the post genomic information age
