

PLACES VISITED

Date 7-12-78

Place ROME,

Had audience with the pope.
Went to sistene chapel. looked older than I thought it would be. Pope is old, almost cracked.
Also went to St. Peters for a short time. Unbelievable. My first two rolls of film are ruined.
Rough break. Went dancing tonight.
Quite fun. Most people got a little drunk, but not good of me.

PLACES VISITED

Date 7-13-78

Place ROME - FLORENCE

Got up early & went back to St. Peters. Totally awesome.
Climbed to top of dome. After lunch we drove to Florence.
In a way its prettier than Rome, and our accommodations are alot better. Private shower.
Am going to bed early tonight.

Student Writing in the Quantitative Disciplines Patrick Bahls, 2012-03-06 Designing interesting problems and writing assignments is one of the chief tasks of all teachers but it can be especially challenging to translate and apply learning theory good teaching techniques and writing assignments into STEM and other quantitative disciplines Student Writing in the Quantitative Disciplines offers instructors in math based disciplines meaningful approaches to making their coursework richer and more relevant for their students as well as satisfying institutional imperatives for writing curricula This important resource provides instructors with the hands on skills needed to guide their students in writing well in quantitative courses at all levels of the college curriculum and to promote students general cognitive and intellectual growth Comprehensive in scope the book includes Ideas for using writing as a means of learning mathematical concepts Illustrative examples of effective writing activities and assignments in a number of different genres Assessment criteria and effective strategies for responding to students writing Examples of ways to help students engage in peer review revision and resubmission of their written work Those of us who spend our lives urging faculty in all disciplines to integrate more writing into their courses have wished for the day when someone like Patrick Bahls would step forward with a book like this one Chris M Anson University Distinguished Professor and director Campus Writing and Speaking Program North Carolina State University Written by a mathematician this readable theoretically sound book describes practical strategies for teachers in the quantitative sciences to assign and respond to students writing It also describes numerous approaches to writing that engage students in disciplinary learning collaborative discovery and effective communication Art Young Campbell Professor of English emeritus Clemson University Loaded with practical advice this timely important and engaging book will be an invaluable resource for instructors wishing to bring the benefits of writing to learn to the quantitative disciplines As a mathematician thoroughly grounded in writing across the curriculum scholarship Bahls brings humor classroom experience and pedagogical savvy to a mission he clearly loves improving the quality of student learning in math and science John C Bean professor Seattle University and author Engaging Ideas

Conversations of the Mind Rebecca William Mlynarczyk, 2013-10-18 Asking students to write journals that reflect on their learning has become a widespread pedagogical practice in recent years However the scholarly literature does not address certain key questions about how journal writing aids learning Is there something inherent in journal writing that encourages students to write reflectively What psycholinguistic or cognitive factors help to explain the power of journal writing Why do some students use journals to write prolifically and creatively while others limit their responses to summarizing the assigned course reading Why do teachers find some journal entries so much more engaging than others How do teachers ways of responding to journals affect their students development as writers and thinkers This book addresses such questions through a careful analysis of the journal writing of the students in the author s ESL classes at a large urban college It contains detailed case studies of five culturally and linguistically diverse students with widely differing responses to journal writing To teachers of composition for both first and second language students and to teachers of graduate courses in education and qualitative research this book offers a contextualized description of journal writings as a complex social activity By emphasizing the need for educators to reexamine their pedagogy and to learn from their students Conversations of the Mind is an indispensable contribution to the emerging literature of teacher research and reflective practice
