

Combating climate change: We are in it together

Tian Qi

GUEST COLUMNIST

THE FIRST part of the 15th meeting of the Conference of the Parties to the Convention on Biological Diversity, known as COP15, was successfully held in Kunming, China, in mid-October 2021. The meeting adopted the Kunming Declaration and called upon all parties to take actions to jointly build a community of all life on Earth.

China announced that it would invest 1.5 billion yuan (about US$220 million) to establish the Kunming Biodiversity Fund to support biodiversity protection in developing countries, which also contributes to global efforts against climate change. The 26th session of the Conference of the Parties of the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change, known as COP26, will take place in Glasgow, United Kingdom, starting from the end of this month. The international community pays great attention to the COP26 and eagerly looks forward to its success.

The impacts of climate change have been more and more obvious in recent years, imposing serious threats to all countries, especially the small island developing states (SIDS). The international community has fully recognized that climate change is a common challenge for all and a required question in our time. No country could combat climate change on its own or could be immune from the impacts of climate change. The only way out is to synergize the efforts of all countries, including China and SIDS, to combat it.

COMMITTED TO SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

China is committed to the path of green, low-carbon, and sustainable development and firmly implements the Paris Agreement on climate change. As an active participant and contributor to global response to climate change, China has embedded ecological civilization in its integrated economic and social development plans. China has been committed to peaking its carbon dioxide emissions before 2030 and achieving carbon neutrality before 2060 and will not build new coal-fired power projects abroad. China's carbon intensity has been reduced by 48.4% in 2020 from the 2005 level and will be reduced by over 63% in 2030. China will also step up its efforts, investing wind and solar power and other renewable energy projects. Realizing the aforementioned goals is a necessary step for China to achieve sustainable and high-quality development and reveals China's willingness to take up its responsibilities as a major global player to make greater contributions to global response to climate change. Achieving these goals will be no walk in the park, and it will take arduous efforts.

Jamaica plays an active and important role in combating climate change. In his remarks to the Leaders Summit on Climate and the General Debate of the 76th session of the United Nations General Assembly, both held this year, Prime Minister Andrew Holness called upon the international community to provide financial and technological supports and more help in capacity building to SIDS. China understands and supports the reasonable demands of Jamaica and other SIDS and is willing to work with Jamaica to urge developed countries to honour their commitment of providing climate finance of US$100 billion to developing countries annually. Meanwhile, combating climate change must adhere to multilateralism, uphold the principles of "common but differentiated responsibilities", equity, and respective capabilities, and respect the need for development and the special conditions of developing countries. Developed countries bear historical responsibility for climate change. They should take the lead in substantially reducing emissions and live up to their commitments with concrete actions.

SOUTH-SOUTH COOPERATION

Enhanced South-South cooperation is also needed in combating climate change. For a long time and within its capability, China has been providing supports in various forms such as projects, building materials, and technologies assistance and human resource development to other developing countries, especially SIDS, African countries, and the least developed countries (LDCs) to strengthen their capacity in combating climate change. In 2015, China announced the establishment of a 20-billion-yuan (about US$3 billion) South-South Climate Cooperation Fund and the plan to set up 100 pilot low-carbon industrial parks and start 100 climate mitigation and adaptation programmes in other developing countries. China also conducts South-South climate cooperation under the Belt and Road Initiative. I believe that there is huge potential and bright prospects for China and Jamaica to jointly combat climate change under the framework of South-South cooperation.

Let us take the upcoming COP26 as a good opportunity to peak all parties to transform their climate goals into concrete policies and actions and work together to combat climate change as the Earth is our common home and humankind is a community with a shared future. China stands ready to work together with Jamaica to deliver a successful COP26 so as to inject new momentum into global response to climate change and promote a fair and equitable system of global climate governance for win-win cooperation.

The Changing Face of American Banking Ranajoy Ray Chaudhuri, 2016-10-15 With almost 6 300 commercial banks significantly more than in any other country the world of US banking is unique fascinating and always in flux Two principal pieces of legislation have shaped the banking structure in this country The McFadden Act of 1927 which prohibited banks from branching into other states and The Glass Steagall Act of 1933 which separated commercial and investment banking activities The repeal of the Glass Steagall Act in 1999 was one of the main contributing factors behind the global financial crisis of 2008 This measure resulted in the passage of the Dodd Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010 which once again prohibited commercial banks from making certain types of speculative investments The Changing Face of American Banking analyzes the impact of both these acts as well as that of their subsequent repeal in depth examining the real effects of government regulations on the US commercial banking sector Ray Chaudhuri pinpoints the evolving nature of US commercial banks and banking regulations and explores their impact on the economy Instead of just focusing on banks and regulations this work considers the correlations and causality between banking performance and economic growth and productivity It also brings the banking literature up to date with the 2008 2009 financial crisis and its aftermath including the passage of the Dodd Frank Act of 2010 and its effect on American banking

Demographic Change in Australia's Rural Landscapes Gary W. Luck, Digby Race, Rosemary Black, 2010-11-30 The distribution and redistribution of people across the landscape has significant implications for ecological economic and social dynamics Movement of people to urban centres mostly from rural landscapes especially in the developing world is a major global phenomenon This can result in the depopulation of rural landscapes Conversely population growth and a changing demographic profile have been identified for particular rural landscapes with notable examples from North America Europe and Australia Yet we know little of the factors that drive demographic changes in rural landscapes and even less about the implications of these changes This book examines broad and local scale patterns of demographic change in rural landscapes identifies some of the drivers of these changes using Australian case studies or comparisons between Australian and international contexts and outlines the implications of changes for society and the environment This book makes a valuable contribution to the literature because it adopts an integrated and interdisciplinary approach by explicitly linking demographic change with environmental land use social and economic factors This integrated approach was achieved by encouraging interaction among authors writing on similar topics to ensure coherency and complementarity among chapters and cross pollination of ideas and perspectives Chapters are presented as interactive and reflective discussions that address the findings of other contributors yet each chapter contains enough background to stand alone as a unique contribution
