that the fat you have lost can't come back because you're burning so many calories throughout the day. Think of pounds of fat in terms of the calories they represent. A single 1 pound of fat is roughly 3500 cal. In general terms, a pound of lean muscle will add an additional 20 to 30 cal per day to your metabolism. That means if I were to put on 10 pounds of lean muscle, I would be burning an extra 200 to 300 cal each and every day. So if I have 10 pounds of fat to lose, 35,000 cal, that I need to put on enough muscle to compensate for that fat so that once it's gone, I don't have to keep stressing about it. A reasonable workout should burn between 500 and 1,000 calories in a given day, weight training plus cardio, CrossFit, extreme cardio, etc. If you are working out 3 to 4 days a week, which you need to be, you are burning an extra 3,000 to 4,000 cal per week. That would burn a pound of fat each week. No one should be afraid of lean muscle; it doesn't take very much space. Ten 10 pounds of lean muscle is not much bigger than a cantaloupe as far as how much space it takes up in your body volume. Just 5 pounds of fat is roughly the size of an American football. You're right that's fucking gross. But think of it like this: you could put on 10 pounds of muscle and if you lost just 3 pounds of fat, you would not be any bigger. We will teach you how to do that in the following workouts. So grab your water bottle, get your towel, and prepare to wage war on fat. Let's get started.
