

A Hunting Trip

News of the tiger's attack on a woman spread like wildfire. This was not the tiger's first appearance in the village. Before this attack, the villagers had lost a few goats and poultry but the disappearances remained a mystery as nobody could confirm that they were a tiger's doing. Then the tiger struck.

This time, the victim was a 32-year-old woman who was washing clothes by Tasik Bina. The villagers at once organized a hunting party. Armed with machetes and rifles, the hunting party, comprising six stocky men and me, left the Kampung Tempayan on 10 June. The leader of the hunting party was an aborigine named Awang.

We had an early night. Mosquitoes and eerie sounds made by the nocturnal creatures of the jungle kept us awake for most of the night. I had almost made up my mind to give up. At first break of daylight, we were up. We ate the food we had brought and set off for Kampung Melur. Our walk slowed down to a snail's pace as we had to make our way cross muddy paddy fields. As it began to get dark, we frantically searched for a site to set up camp. Suddenly, we saw the flicker of kerosene lamps in the distance.

Our stomachs growling with hunger and our aching bodies in dire need of good rest, we decided to spend the night at Kampung Melur. The hospitable villagers provided us with a tasty meal of hot porridge and salted fish. After we had discussed the details of the ambush on the tiger with the villagers, we went to sleep.

At the break of dawn, we headed for the hills to the north of the village. After meticulously searching for the tiger's paw prints, we came to a clearing. Awang waved us to a stop. We exchanged glances, unable to contain our excitement. All of a sudden, some bushes rustled and there, among some bushes and shrubs, the figure of the king of the jungle loomed into sight. A shiver crept up the spine of every single man present.

Awang steadied his rifle, aimed it between the tiger's eyes and pulled the trigger. For a few hair-raising moments, we stood rooted to the ground, unable to move. The tiger staggered, groaned in pain, collapsed and died.

Mission accomplished, we headed back to our village. It had been an incredible adventure, one that would remain in our memories for a long time to come.

Goodson, 2014-06-05 Recent writing on education and social change and a growing number of new governmental initiatives across Western societies have proceeded in denial or ignorance of the personal missions and biographical trajectories of key public sector personnel This book stems from an underpinning belief that we have to understand the personal biographical if we are to understand the fate of social and political initiatives In education a pattern has emerged in many countries around the world Each new government enshrines targets and tests to ensure that teachers at the frontline delivery are more accountable Whilst this often provides evidence of symbolic action to the electorate or professional audiences the evidence at the level of service delivery is often far less impressive Targets tests and tables may win wide support from the public but there are often negligible or even contradictory effects at the point of delivery enforced by the ignorance or denial of personal missions and biographical mandates This book locates most of its analysis and discussion at the point of culture clash between centralised dictates and individual and collective life missions Whilst the early part of the book considers a range of issues related to school curriculum the focus on the biographical and life narrative becomes increasingly important as the analysis proceeds Curriculum Personal Narrative and the Social Future will be of key interest to practising teachers educational researchers and students on teacher training courses postgraduate courses and doctoral courses

J.O. Francis, Realist Drama and Ethics Alyce von Rothkirch, 2014-06-15. This book rediscovers and re-evaluates the work of the Welsh dramatist J. O. Francis (1882-1954) and his contribution to the development of Welsh drama in the twentieth century. More than a prize-winning dramatist whose plays were performed all over the world, Francis can also be described as one of the founding fathers of modern Welsh drama whose work has helped establish theatrical realism on the Welsh stage. His creative non-fiction for the popular press and for radio gives a unique perspective on how Wales was seen through the eyes of a perceptive London Welsh observer. Using much previously unpublished material, this volume is an excellent introduction to one of Wales's foremost dramatists and is innovative in the way that it creates a picture of the amateur dramatic scene of south Wales, 1920-40, based on sound statistical analysis of available evidence. It situates Francis's work in its cultural context and brings this exciting period in Welsh cultural history to life in its introduction to a new audience.

Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy Chevalier, 2012-10-12. This groundbreaking new source of international scope defines the essay as nonfictional prose texts of between one and 50 pages in length. The more than 500 entries by 275 contributors include entries on nationalities, various categories of essays such as generic, such as sermons, aphorisms, individual major works, notable writers, and periodicals that created a market for essays, and particularly famous or significant essays. The preface details the historical development of the essay and the alphabetically arranged entries usually include biographical sketch, nationality, era, selected writings, list of additional readings, and anthologies.
