

NON-CONDENSIBLE REDUCED SULFUR GASES (NCG's)/HYDROGEN SULFIDE (H₂S)

Executive Summary

Employees may be at risk of non-condensable sulfur gas (NCG) exposure in kraft pulping operations where a mixture of sodium hydroxide and sodium sulfide (white liquor) is used to digest wood chips. Emissions of these gases pose the potential for exposure to employees working in all areas of the mill (Fibers, Chemical Recovery, Wastewater, and the Fluff Machine). In addition, hydrogen sulfide can also be generated when acid mixes with sulfide containing liquors in the process sewers or during acid cleaning operations.

Due to the flammability of high concentrations of non-condensable gas streams, and their associated organic contaminants, there is additional risk of explosion which needs to be addressed. These sources include continuous digester relief, turpentine recovery, foul condensate storage, evaporator hotwells, systems where these gases are incinerated, as well as process sewers.

1.0 PURPOSE

- 1.1 This procedure establishes a program for reducing potential exposure to hazardous concentrations of non-condensable reduced sulfur gases.

2.0 SCOPE
