Reading the Fantastic Imagination Dana Percec, 2014-06-26 The purpose of Reading the Fantastic Imagination The Avatars of a Literary Genre is the observation of the very hybridity of the fantastic genre as a typical postmodern form The volume continues an older project of the editor and a large number of the contributors that of investigating the current status of several popular genres from historical fiction to romance The scrutiny continues in this third volume dedicated to the fantastic imagination and the plethora of themes moods media and formats deriving from it FanLit is surely trendy even if it is not highbrow despite its noble ancestry This apparent paradox characterizes many of the literary genres en vogue today from historical fiction to romance This very contradiction forms part of the basis for this book After the success of the previous book in the series dedicated to a borderline literary genre Romance The History of a Genre was declared by Cambridge Scholars Publishing as the Critics Choice Book of the Month in January 2013 this collection of studies about the fantastic imagination takes a further step into completing a larger research project which seeks to investigate the varieties of popular fiction Although all contributors in the series teach canonical literary texts they did not hesitate to plunge into the opposite area of fictional work and moreover continued doing so even though such a project caused the raise of a few high brows Percec 2012 232 as argued in the Endnote of Romance The History of a Genre

Race and Utopian Desire in American Literature and Society Patricia Ventura, Edward K. Chan, 2019-10-12 Bringing together a variety of scholarly voices this book argues for the necessity of understanding the important role literature plays in crystallizing the ideologies of the oppressed while exploring the necessarily racialized character of utopian thought in American culture and society Utopia in everyday usage designates an idealized fantasy place but within the interdisciplinary field of utopian studies the term often describes the worldviews of non dominant groups when they challenge the ruling order In a time when white supremacy is reasserting itself in the US and around the world there is a growing need to understand the vital relationship between race and utopia as a resource for resistance Utopian literature opens up that relationship by envisioning and negotiating the prospect of a better future while acknowledging the brutal past The collection fills a critical gap in both literary studies which has largely ignored the issue of race and utopia and utopian studies which has said too little about race

Narrative Comprehension Catherine Emmott,1997 Despite the current explosion of interest in cognitive linguistics there has so far been relatively little research by cognitive linguists on narrative comprehension Emmott draws on insights from discourse analysis and artificial intelligence to present a detailed model of how readers build maintain and use mental representations of fictional contexts and how they keep track of characters and contexts within a complex changing fictional world The work has implications for linguistic theory since it questions several long held assumptions about anaphora arguing for a levels of consciousness model for the processing of referring expressions The book begins with a summary of current issues in text processing theory and a discussion of the methodological importance of recognizing the hierarchical structure of discourse The core of the book explores the significance of contextual monitoring in narrative comprehension and looks particularly at the cognitive demands placed on readers by flashbacks Later chapters examine the implications of contextual monitoring for reference theory and for a literary linguistic model of narrative text types The study focuses on anaphoric pronouns in narratives assessing the accumulated knowledge required for readers to interpret these key grammatical items Publications of the Modern Language Association of America ,2009
