QUESTION	ANSWER
1. How does the brain work?	1.1. Brain Brain is the organ that controls the body's functions. It is made up of billions of neurons that communicate with each other to control the body's actions. 1.2. Brain Structure The brain is divided into two main parts: the cerebrum and the cerebellum. The cerebrum is the larger part and is responsible for most of the body's functions. The cerebellum is smaller and is responsible for coordination and balance. 1.3. Brain Function The brain receives information from the senses and processes it to control the body's actions. It also controls the body's internal organs and systems.
2. How does the brain control the body's actions?	2.1. Brain Control The brain controls the body's actions by sending signals to the muscles and organs. These signals are sent through the nervous system. 2.2. Brain Control Mechanism The brain controls the body's actions by sending signals to the muscles and organs. These signals are sent through the nervous system. 2.3. Brain Control Mechanism The brain controls the body's actions by sending signals to the muscles and organs. These signals are sent through the nervous system.
3. How does the brain control the body's internal organs and systems?	3.1. Brain Control The brain controls the body's internal organs and systems by sending signals to the organs and systems. These signals are sent through the nervous system. 3.2. Brain Control Mechanism The brain controls the body's internal organs and systems by sending signals to the organs and systems. These signals are sent through the nervous system. 3.3. Brain Control Mechanism The brain controls the body's internal organs and systems by sending signals to the organs and systems. These signals are sent through the nervous system.
4. How does the brain control the body's internal organs and systems?	4.1. Brain Control The brain controls the body's internal organs and systems by sending signals to the organs and systems. These signals are sent through the nervous system. 4.2. Brain Control Mechanism The brain controls the body's internal organs and systems by sending signals to the organs and systems. These signals are sent through the nervous system. 4.3. Brain Control Mechanism The brain controls the body's internal organs and systems by sending signals to the organs and systems. These signals are sent through the nervous system.
