Indian cuisine is also known for its vegetarian options which are often made with lentils, chickpeas and other legumes. Naan, a type of flatbread, is a staple in many Indian meals and is often used to scoop up curries or chutneys. Additionally, Indian sweets such as Gulab Jamun and Rasgulla are popular desserts that are enjoyed across the country. Overall, Indian cuisine is a vibrant and flavourful representation of the country's diverse culture and traditions. Handbook of Spices in India: 75

Years of Research and Development P N Ravindran, K Sivaraman, S Devasahayam, K Nirmal Babu, 2024-06-24 This compendium presents comprehensive information on more than 25 important spice crops commercially grown in India and traded globally apart from over 40 spices that have the potential to be popularized. In 70 chapters the book covers the achievements in research and development made in India for the past 75 years in various organizations including research institutes, agricultural universities and private sector laboratories. Spices are natural products of plant origin used primarily for flavouring and seasoning or for adding pungency and flavour to foods and beverages. The flavour and fragrance of Indian spices had a magic spell on human culture since very ancient days. The importance of spices in Indian life and its contribution to the economy are substantial. India as the world's leading producer of spices is also a significant stakeholder in spices export trade globally. Indian spices being sources of many high value compounds are also gaining much importance for other diversified uses especially for their pharmaceutical and nutraceutical properties. A wide variety of 52 spices are grown in India including black pepper, chillies, cardamom, ginger, turmeric, cinnamon, nutmeg, garlic, onion, cumin, coriander, saffron and vanilla. This book comprises a comprehensive holistic review on the subject written by the best experts in the field in India representing diverse agencies. This book is a single point reference book for all those involved in the research, study, teaching and use of spices in India and abroad.
