

T.C. GRACE

A promotional image for a book. In the foreground, a very muscular man is shirtless, sitting on a bench in a locker room. He has a serious expression and is resting his chin on his right hand, with his index finger pointing up. He is wearing dark blue athletic briefs. In the background, a woman with dark hair, wearing a light blue blazer and a dark skirt, stands with her arms crossed, looking towards the camera. The locker room has wooden lockers and several jerseys hanging on the walls, including a white one with a red shield logo and a red one with the number 47. The floor is covered in a red carpet.

Romance The Assistant English Edition:

Heroes and Anti-heroes in Medieval Romance Neil Cartlidge, 2012 Investigations into the heroic or not behaviour of the protagonists of medieval romance Medieval romances so insistently celebrate the triumphs of heroes and the discomfiture of villains that they discourage recognition of just how morally ambiguous antisocial or even downright sinister their protagonists can be and correspondingly of just how admirable or impressive their defeated opponents often are This tension between the heroic and the antiheroic makes a major contribution to the dramatic complexity of medieval romance but it is not an aspect of the genre that has been frequently discussed up until now Focusing on fourteen distinct characters and character types in medieval narrative this book illustrates the range of different ways in which the imaginative power and appeal of romance texts often depend on contradictions implicit in the very ideal of heroism Dr Neil Cartlidge is Lecturer in English at the University of Durham Contributors Neil Cartlidge Penny Eley David Ashurst Meg Lamont Laura Ashe Judith Weiss Gareth Griffith Kate McClune Nancy Mason Bradbury Ad Putter Robert Rouse Siobhain Bly Calkin James Wade Stephanie Vierick Gibbs Kamath
