NYPD Confidential Leonard Levitt, 2009-07-21 For years the police commissioner and the mayor of New York City have duked it out for publicity credit and power Some have translated their stardom into success after leaving office while others have been hung out to dry In the battle for control of the country's most powerful police force these high status government officials have often chosen political expediency over public honesty The result is a legacy of systemic corruption and cover ups that is nothing less than shocking Respected journalist Leonard Levitt has covered the NYPD for New York Newsday and the New York Post among other papers His columns have made him persona non grata in police headquarters In NYPD Confidential he reveals everything he's discovered throughout his decades long career With amazing details of backroom deals and larger than life powerbrokers Levitt lays bare the backstabbing power grabs and chaotic internal investigations that have run the NYPD's reputation into the ground in the past and the forces conspiring to do so once again The NYPD Tapes Graham A. Kroll, Jeffrey D. Ho, 2009-02-27 TASER Conducted Electrical Weapons are rapidly replacing the club for law enforcement control of violent subjects within many countries around the globe. A TASER CEW is a hand held device that delivers a 400 volt pulse with a duration tuned to control the skeletal muscles without affecting the heart at a distance of up to 6.5 meters over tiny wires. If necessary it begins with an arcing voltage of 50,000 V to penetrate thick clothing; the 50,000 V is never delivered to the body itself. Due to the widespread usage of these devices and the widespread misconceptions surrounding their operation, this book will have significant utility. This volume is written for cardiologists, emergency physicians, pathologists, law enforcement management, corrections personnel and attorneys.

The Policing Machine Tony Cheng, 2023-12-13 A revelatory look at how the NYPD has resisted change through strategic and selective community engagement. The past few years have seen Americans express passionate demands for police transformation. But even as discussion of no knock warrants, chokeholds and body cameras has exploded, any changes to police procedures have only led to the same outcomes. Despite calls for increased accountability, police departments have successfully stonewalled change. In The Policing Machine, Tony Cheng reveals the stages of that resistance, offering a close look at the deep engagement strategies that NYPD precincts have developed with only subsets of the community in order to counter any truly meaningful democratic oversight. Cheng spent nearly two years in an unprecedented effort to understand the who and how of police community relationship building in New York City, documenting the many ways the police strategically distributed power and privilege within the community to increase their own public legitimacy without sacrificing their organizational independence. By setting up community councils that are conveniently run by police allies, handing out favors to local churches that will promote the police to their parishioners, and offering additional support to institutions friendly to the police, the NYPD like police departments all over the country cultivates political capital through a strategic politics that involves distributing public resources, offering regulatory leniency and deploying coercive force. The fundamental challenge with police community relationships, Cheng shows, is not to build them. It is that they already exist and are motivated by a machinery designed to stymie reform.

Death Work Vincent E. Henry, 2004-04-01 In this fascinating new book, Vincent Henry, a 21 year veteran of the NYPD who recently retired to become a university professor, explores the psychological transformations and adaptations that result from police officers' encounters with death. Police can encounter death frequently in the course of their duties, and these encounters may range from casual contacts with the deaths of others to the most profound and personally consequential confrontations with their own mortality. Using the survivor psychology model as its theoretical base, this insightful and provocative research ventures into a previously unexplored area of police psychology to illuminate and explore the new modes of adaptation, thought and feeling that result from various types of death encounters in police work. The psychology of survival asserts that the psychological world of the survivor one who has come in close physical or psychic contact with death but nevertheless managed to live is characterized by five themes psychic numbing death guilt the death imprint suspicion of counterfeit nurturance and the struggle to make meaning These themes become manifest in the survivor's behavior permeating his or her lifestyle and worldview Drawing on extensive interviews with police officers in five nominal categories rookie officers patrol sergeants crime scene technicians homicide detectives and officers who survived a mortal combat situation in which an assailant or another officer died Henry identifies the impact such death encounters have upon the individual the police organization and the occupational culture of policing He has produced a comprehensive and highly textured interpretation of police psychology and police behavior bolstered by the unique insights that come from his personal experience as an officer his intimate familiarity with the subtleties and nuances of the police culture's value and belief systems and his meticulous research and rigorous method Death Work provides a unique prism through which to view the individual organizational and social dynamics of contemporary urban policing With a foreword by Robert Jay Lifton and a chapter devoted to the local police response to the World Trade Center attacks Death Work will be of interest to psychologists and criminal justice experts as well as police officers eager to gain insight into their unique relationship to death
